A FINE OPERATION IN SKIN GRAFTING

An extraordinary case of skin grafting was performed by Dr. Morse of this city yesterday afternoon, when Charlie Stege, Mrs. Viola Swartz and Miss Stella Martin heroically sacrificed 100 square inches of their cuticle for the sake of Miss Irene Martin, who was severely burned about the lower part of her body nine weeks ago by the accidental catching on fire of her garments at the kitchen stove.

One hundred square inches of skin was taken from the limbs of Mr. Stege and 150 square inches each from the bodies of the women, who are sisters of the unfortunate girl. The operation was successful and all are doing nicely.

LOOKS LIKE HE AIDED HIS FRIEND

S. H. Bittner, ex-Convict, Hires Livery Team, Which Is Still Out—Trusty Is Also Missing.

What is believed by the authorities to have been a carefully planned scheme between James Adams, a convict serving seven years for larceny, from Crook county, and S. H. Bittner, an ex-convict who served a year for larceny, from Klamath county, was carried out yesterday afternoon, when Adams mysteriously left the grounds of the School for the Feeble Minded, where he was employed as a trusty, and Bittner, who had been talking with an official of the school, left just immediately prior to the discovery of Adams' departure, in a rig. Yesterday afternoon Bittner hired a team and buggy from Charles Yannke, the local liverman, saying he wished to drive out in the country and would be gone but a few hours, and paid for the rig in advance. He then drove out to the institution, where he talked with Superintendent Bickers about several trivial matters, saying he was just taking a little drive out in the country, and left. Very little time had elapsed after Bittner left when Adams was missing.

Mr. Yannke, the man who owned the rig, has not heard from his property since Bittner took it away yesterday afternoon, and today he swore out a warrant for the man's arrest, which was placed in the hands of Sheriff Minto. Mr. Yannke promptly identified Bittner's photograph which was taken while serving time in the penitentiary, as being the same man who hired his horses and buggy.

After making an investigation in regard to Bittner's assertions that he was merely driving out in the country, it was found that the probability that he was taking a pleasure ride was not very strong, as he was not overly well off and there is no accounting for the rig being still out since yesterday afternoon, when he should have brought it back at least before night. Adams and Bittner were well acquainted while they were confined in the penitentiary, and they appeared on friendly terms with each other. Bittner's time was served out but a short time ago, and when he discovered that prisoner away. Unless Bittner re-Adams was given the advantages of a trusty at the School for the Feeble Minded, the officers think he saw a good opportunity to help his friend out of a hole and hired the rig for the purpose of hauling the turns with the rig and gives a good explanation of his unusual actions of yesterday and today, the authorities' version of the escape and the missing rig will be substantiated. Sheriff Minto is now looking after the rig and Bittner, but should the escaped convict and Bittner be in together on the matter, it is likely they are both a good ways out of the county by this time. Superintendent James has issued circulars giving Adams' description and an offer of $50 reward for his capture or information leading to it. Adams is 34 years of age and weighs 160 pounds.

PRICES ARE SOARING AT RHEIMS

Thrifty People Take Advantage of Crowds and Send the Prices Higher Than Airships.

[United Press Leased Wire.]
Rheims, Aug. 25.—A howl, mighty enough to be heard all the way across the ocean, is ascending from this aeropolis today. Aviation week has not only brought thousands of visitors but has caused an unwarranted rise in prices for everything from five to a hundred times normal.

Americans are being charged exorbitant prices. It is because every Yankee is looked upon as a millionaire. Hotels are refusing $200 and even $500 a week for rooms with a bath because Americans prefer them and will submit to paying the price to secure them.

Butchers have doubled their meat prices and "cabbies" who used to charge 10 francs for an afternoon will not now budge for less than 75. A small lunch costs three times what it did a week ago in the centrally located cafes, and as a result many persons have begun to boycott the price boosters and are going elsewhere for meals. Only in the outskirts can boarding houses be found where excessive charges are not made.

Even the city gendarmes are showing exceptional zeal. Automobilists who used to travel at fearful rates without fear of arrest are now held up and fined on the slightest provocation.

WILL HAVE HIS BODY EXAMINED

His Mother Will Have Body of Lieutenant Sutton Dug Up to See If Arm Was Broken.

[United Press Leased Wire.]
Washington, Aug. 25.—The grave of Lieutenant James N. Sutton, whose tragic death was investigated by a board of inquiry at Annapolis, will be opened at Arlington National cemetery tomorrow or Friday by the mother of the dead man, who will have an autopsy performed in an attempt to prove that her son's arm was broken during the desperate fight on the campus, making it impossible for him to have killed himself during the struggle. The autopsy will be performed privately.

The quartermaster general granted permission to Mrs. Sutton to open the grave. It was learned today that Cardinal Gibbons of the Catholic church has intimated that when the body is reinterred that it will be done with full Catholic rites and the ground will be consecrated.

This is what Mrs. Sutton most desires and is one of the principal reasons for her efforts to have the young man's name cleared of the stigma of having committed suicide.

WHEAT MARKET STAGNANT TODAY

Chicago, Aug. 25.—The wheat market at home was stagnant and there was no change in quotations at today's closing as compared with that of yesterday.

Foreign markets caused considerable attention here but the sharp decline in Liverpool values did not influence trading one way or the other. Liverpool opened quite strong 1/4 to 3/4 higher and closed 1/4 to 3/4 higher.

Primary movement of wheat is heavier; receipts show 845,000 bushels for the day as compared with 794,000 bushels a year ago.

THINK HARRIMAN WILL RETIRE

New York, Aug. 25.—The belief is becoming prevalent on Wall street that E. H. Harriman will retire permanently as the active head of the Harriman railroad systems and that it will be announced soon that Kruttschnitt will be placed in charge of the allied railroad interests while the stock exchange business will be turned over to William Rockefeller and Henry Frick.
