The annual Cherry Fair has absorbed the social activities of Salem people the past week to such an extent that nearly everybody who entertained company did it in connection with the Cherry festival. The city was full of strangers and they could not complain of the inhospitality of the Salem people. The Portland crowd was entertained at the Illihee club with a fine lunch and all quaffed Salem beer which flowed free for the visitors.

A most enjoyable lodge social was the one held last Tuesday evening by the newly instituted Court Salem, Independent Order of Foresters in their hall in the Odd Fellows' building. The lodge members were out in force, and these, with the specially invited guests, comfortably filled the spacious lodge room.

A consolidation of two Forester courts has recently been accomplished. Court Willamette, existing here for many years, merging with the new court, and both will hereafter be known as Court Salem. The social, therefore, took the form of a reception to the old, white headed members of the older court, and a most enjoyable time was had by all present.

A most pleasing feature of the evening was the presentation, in a neat speech by Judge F. A. Moore on behalf of Court Salem's former members, to their old financial secretary, of a beautiful gold-headed cane, as an appreciation of his services.

The organizer of the new court, Deputy Supreme Chief Ranger C. H. Iwing, was presented with a beautiful badge of his office by the members of the courts, F. C. DeLong representing the lodges. Presenting of tokens of esteem having by this time become a habit with the members, a class of 12 Foresters and Companions was next presented with emblematic Moose heads in token of services rendered. Mr. Iwing and Ha Patton "engineering" these exercises.

Judge Moore's talk on the merits of the order, and his touching reference to the passing of old Court Willamette, being received with especial favor.

Following is the program as presented:

The wedding march was played by Mr. Frank Frickey, violinist, accompanied by Miss Piegler, pianist. Miss Walling, of this city, was maid of honor, and Mr. Paul Whetzel, of Portland, was groomsmen.

The bride wore a draped gown of chiffon and white lace over silk, and carried a white prayer book. Her veil was caught up with lilies of the valley and orange blossoms from California.

The bridesmaid wore pink crepe de chine over pink taffeta, and carried pink carnations.

Miss Paine is a popular Salem girl, and an accomplished vocal soloist.

Mr. Coffey is a business man of Portland, and highly esteemed.

Mr. and Mrs. Coffey were the recipients of many beautiful and valuable gifts.

Shortly after the wedding the happy couple departed for Portland in an automobile.

ROBBERS FOILED BY PRIEST

New York, July 9.—Suffering from a knife wound in his right arm, Father Sanders of St. Leonard's Roman Catholic church, of Brooklyn, is under the care of surgeons today. Father Sanders surprised three masked men at work in the rectory, where $500 of the church funds was locked in a vault. The priest grappled with one of the robbers.

Three other priests heard the struggle and rushed to his aid. For more than a quarter of an hour the priests and the thugs struggled in the rectory before the thieves fled.

NEW CODE OF ETHICS CREATED

PROPER WAY TO TREAT CONVICTED AND CONDEMNED MURDERERS IN TRANSIT TO THE PENITENTIARY IS TO WINE AND DINE THEM AT A PALATIAL HOSTELRY AS ESTABLISHED BY GUARDS OF GRANT COUNTY LYNCHERS AT PORTLAND.

Portland, Ore., July 9.—Five men, murderers convicted of lynching O'Le Snyder near Canyon City, Ore., last winter, were taken to the penitentiary at Salem today, following a banquet last night at the Imperial hotel during which they solemnly toasted each other and drank to the health of their guards. Four of them began life sentences; the fifth, formerly a deputy sheriff, is under sentence to hang September 2. The grim banquets jestfully drank to a quick death if a pardon failed to arrive in time to save him.

Snyder was lynched and shot down while under the protection of Joseph Casady, a deputy sheriff of Grant county, who had been hunting Snyder for months, to bring him back to stand trial for the murder of a man named Green, whom it was alleged Snyder shot to death in a quarrel at Heppner, Ore. Evidence indicated that Casady, assisted by Emmett Shields, Earl Shields, Ben Hinton, and Albert Green, a brother of the man killed at Heppner, were responsible for Snyder's death.

All were convicted. Casady was sentenced to death, while the others were given life sentences.

SMILE WINS PAROLE FOR ERRING GIRL

AFTER SENTENCING YOUNG WOMAN THIEF OF LADIES' APPAREL TO 30 DAYS, JUDGE BURNETT RELENTS AND PAROLES PRISONER UPON PROMISE TO BE A GOOD GIRL AND RETURN TO MAMMA—OTHER CASES.

After promising Judge Burnett that she would return to her aged mother in the city of Portland, and that hereafter she would direct her footsteps along the road of rectitude of womanly virtue, Miss Beatrice Hyde, alias Miss May Wright, who was indicted yesterday afternoon by the grand jury for stealing a cloak and a broadcloth dress, was paroled this morning.

Moral: Don't worry; smile.

She Smilingly Promised.
 Miss Hyde was arrested at the Cottage Hotel by Officer Murphy. Complaint has been made that guests were missing different articles of wearing apparel, and Officer Murphy was called in on the case. He learned that Mrs. J. Harding, of Glendale, had lost a black chiffon broadcloth coat, and that Mrs. Al. Mishler, of Woodburn, had lost a broadcloth dress. Miss Hyde also had her story to tell, and he learned from her that she had lost a silk dress skirt and $5 in gold. Putting her on the witness stand the girl became nervous, and an investigation of the room unearthed the missing articles, and, upon being confronted with them, she finally confessed.

Her case went to the grand jury yesterday and an indictment was found against her. This morning she appeared before Judge Burnett for arraignment. When she pleaded guilty there was a smile on her face, and when he sentenced her to 30 days in jail she was still there. After sentence he questioned her, and found out that she was only 21 year old; that this was her first offense, and upon promising that she would abandon the pilferage path, and no longer heed the call of the night, but travel in the well-beaten path of virtue and honor she was paroled and the doors of the court room closed behind the irrepressible smile which had broadened into a benignant grin.

Other Arraignments.
 Fred McClard, who was indicted by a preceding grand jury, on the charge of obtaining money by false pretenses, was arraigned and pleaded not guilty. His offense is alleged to consist in presenting a check on the banking firm of Laid & Bush, when payment upon it had been stopped by the maker, as the wages of McClard, which had been assigned to the maker of the check, and was the consideration for its execution had been attached. McClard is a school teacher by profession.

Verlie Goode was arraigned on the charge of a statutory crime, committed upon a girl by the name of Dryden, who is now in Portland. She is alleged to be under the age of 16 years. The offense is alleged to have been committed on July 10, 1909, in this city, and it is stated that she is the mother of a child, of whom she claims Goode is the father.

Two Other Indictments.
 In addition to returning indictments against Miss Hyde and Verlie Goode the grand jury also returned two other indictments, but as the parties indicted have not yet been arrested by the officers, the names could not be learned. It is understood that one indictment is for permitting stock to trespass, and that the other is for poisoning stock.

FOOTSTEPS DIRECTED BY CUPID

New York, July 9.—Despite Colonel Roosevelt's vehement statement that the report of his son's engagement to Miss Margaret Rutherford, daughter of Mrs. William K. Vanderbilt, Sr., was "too silly to talk about," Newport and Fifth avenue are doing that very thing today, following the announcement that Kermit is to sail late today for a summer's stay in Paris.

It is stated that the young man's trip is for the purpose of brushing up on his studies so that he may return to Harvard next fall. The fact that Miss Rutherford also is summering in Paris with her mother, and that on the occasion of his recent meeting with the young woman in the French capital, Kermit had little time for studying anything except the accomplishments of the beautiful young American heiress, cause many to believe, however, that by fall Harvard will have lost a popular young under-graduate.

No Hope for Him.
 (A true story.)

Little Henry and Helen, grandchildren of State Land Agent Applegate, were spending a brief vacation at the home of Grandpa Applegate in this city recently. Not to insinuate that "Peter" (grandpa in this case) is over-pious to any great degree, but anyway, the little tots were being taught a code of evening prayers before retiring that were new to them. Little Helen, the younger, worried through her recitation without much trouble, but when it came to Henry, he stumbled, worried and wrestled with the problem for several minutes, until the little sister became indignant. "Never mind, Henry, let it go. It's no use; you'll go to hell, anyhow," was her soothing and solicitous remark.
