

BUTTEVILLE BRIDGE GETS BRIEF HEARING BEFORE THE COMMITTEE

The Tri-County Push club got a brief hearing before the joint committee of the senators from Clackamas, Yamhill and Marion counties Thursday evening upon adjournment. The hour was late and the senators were in a rush to get away. Senator Carson presided, and on a vote the two senators from Marion county stood for the proposition. Senators Hoskins and Barrett were against it, and Senator Dimick did not stay until the vote was taken, but said if the people of Clackamas were for the proposition, he would stand for the bill to have the bridge built by the three counties. Wm. E. Purdy and Col. E.

Hofer made a fight for the bridge and asked that it be left to the people of the three counties, on a referendum vote. Representative Graces was opposed to the measure, and there will be two reports, a majority and a minority report. The majority will favor giving the three counties authority to build a bridge jointly, subject to the approval of the people of each county, the same to be located wherever the three county courts can agree upon a suitable site. The legislators do not deem it to be within their jurisdiction to locate the bridge. The minority report will oppose action by the three counties.

"The Man of the Hour."

George Broadhurst's "The Man of the Hour," an American play which has won an extraordinary degree of success, will be seen at the Grand Opera House on Saturday, January 28. The work is a comedy drama, and treats of one of the most important municipal problems of the day as its basic motive, while involved in it is a most engaging love story.

Broadhurst heretofore confined himself mostly to the writing of farces, such as "What Happened to Jones," "Why Smith Left Home," etc. His best known adventure in the field of more serious drama up to the time of the production of "The Man of the Hour" is a play called "An American Senator," in which Wm. H. Crane appeared a few seasons ago, but latest play has made all his former efforts seem unimportant by comparison, for it is not only a distinct triumph for the American playwright, but it has also won a success hitherto quite unparalleled on the American stage.

Among the players that will be seen here in the cast are: Mr. Harry English, Warren Sonlan, Edward Keene, John Moore, John Morris, Clyde F. McCabe, Frank Kendricks, Franklin George, E. H. Folt, George Walters, Geo. A. Cameron, Frank Watson, Alfred Burns, and Miss Eleanor Haber, Virginia Irwin, Florence Mack.

"The Squaw Man."

Edwin Milton Royle's drama, "The Squaw Man," comes to the Grand Opera House on Monday, January 30. Mr. Livingston impersonates a gallant and manly young officer of the English government, the son of a noble house, who takes upon himself the onus of a crime committed by another, that the family honor may not be smirched and innocent lives ruined. He leaves England under this cloud and plunges into the life of the far West, which he pursues for several years; but finally emerges with his name cleared and comes into possession of an earldom and a wife. The character is embodied by Mr. Livingston in a manner that proclaims his adaptability for this kind of stage work. His sentiment is always fine and manful and he seems especially happy in his appeal for public interest and sympathy. Seat sale opens Saturday, January 28. Prices, 50c, 75c, $1.00, and $1.50.
