Hanley a Negligible Quantity --Having to Date Only About 15,000

Portland, Ore., Nov. 5.—Complete returns from 307 precincts in Multnomah county and fairly complete reports from the thirty-three other counties of the state today indicated that Senator Chamberlain's plurality over R. A. Booth, republican, will be 25,000 or more when the count is completed.

STUDY OF WELCH AID TO SINGERS

Evan Williams, the famous tenor, has his own ideas about singing, and as he has sung all his life, what he says about it ought to interest singers, particularly those singers who have not yet arrived at a true understanding of correct tone production.

TAKES TURKISH EMBASSY

Washington, Nov. 5.—The state department announced today that the United States had taken over the interests of the Turkish embassy in London.

Rome, Nov. 5.—The government today prohibited the importation into Italy after January 1 of pigs of pork products from America, Turkey, Rumania, Cyprus or Egypt, on account of the swine plague.

Mrs. Edna Jones, who has been visiting at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. W. King, east of this city, has returned to her home in Idaho.

TO RAID BRITISH COAST

The Hague, Nov. 5.—A raid on the British coast was believed here today to be included in the kaiser's plans, in connection with his campaign against France's channel ports.

AMERICAN VESSEL BOARDED BY JAPS

Held Up By Japs Who Were Looking So They Claimed for Salt Petre

San Francisco, Nov. 5.—Because no international complications are desired which can possibly be avoided, it was stated at the Pacific Mail Steamship company's headquarters here today that Washington will not be troubled with a protest concerning the peremptory motions pursued by the Japanese in Keelung harbor, Formosa, in overhauling the company's liner Mongolia on the vessel's last trip to the Orient.

MAJORITIES KEEP MOUNTING HIGHER

The Returns This Morning Indicate State Is Dry by About 25,000

Portland, Or., Nov. 5.—If the present ratio continues Oregon went dry at Tuesday's election by a majority of 25,000 or more votes, it was believed today.

MR. HAWLEY THANKS PEOPLE FOR SUPPORT

Representative Hawley, before leaving for Benton County this morning where he will visit his aged mother residing near Monroe, made the following statement of his appreciation of the very large plurality given him in Tuesday's election:

ELEVATOR BOY IS WILLIAMS' CRITIC

Last year, while filling an engagement in a small town in Missouri, Evan Williams was held up in the elevator of his hotel by the youthful Irish conductor of the "lit." long enough to answer questions of the self-appointed interviewer.

CALIFORNIA IS WET SENATOR DEMOCRAT REST IS REPUBLICAN

Amendment Probably Passed Preventing "Dry" Election For 8 Years

PRIZE FIGHTING MAY HAVE ITS KNOCKOUT

Johnson Only California Governor Ever Re-elected Gets Record Vote

San Francisco, Nov. 5.—The election to the United States senate of James D. Phelan, of San Francisco, democrat, over Congressman Joseph R. Knowland, of Alameda, republican, was practically certain here today, by approximately 20,000 plurality.

Returns from 1,184 scattered precincts out of the 4,583 in the state, early today gave the following totals: For governor—Johnson, progressive, 130,809; Fredericks, republican, 81,295; Curtin, 35,586.

For United States senator—Phelan, democrat, 87,800; Knowland, republican, 66,822; Francis J. Heney, progressive, 60,149.

For lieutenant governor—John Eshleman, progressive, 115,932; Jo Snyder, democrat, 60,149.

PROGRESSIVE PARTY IS IN FIFTH PLACE

New York, Nov. 5.—Late and complete returns today from eastern states but served to emphasize republican victories in Tuesday's election, the principal feature of which was the annihilation of the progressive party.

WILL TURN ATTENTION TO COLORADO AFFAIRS

Washington, Nov. 5.—The election over, the administration today was prepared to renew its attention to the situation in Mexico and the Colorado coal mine strike.

HEAVY DRY GAIN IN CITY OF SALEM

The total vote on prohibition in the city was dry 2990, wet 1636—majority for prohibition 1294. This is a large increase in the "dry" majority since the city election of a year ago when local option won out.

ELECTION RESULTS IN MARION COUNTY

Stands by Chamberlain, Hawley and Withycombe, and for Prohibition

Complete returns from 64 out of a total of 73 precincts which have been received today give Hawley a lead of 3374 votes over Hollister, or nearly two to one in this county; Senator Chamberlain leads Booth by a plurality of 715 votes, which is being increased as the returns come in from the outlying precincts; Dr. Withycombe leads Dr. Smith for the governorship by 1953 votes in the county, and the prohibition amendment to the constitution was adopted in this county, according to the latest returns, with 11 precincts still missing or incomplete, by a majority of 1294 votes.

For justices of the supreme court all four of the republican candidates, Bean, Benson, Harris and McBride, received the highest vote and will carry the county, but Judge William Gallo-way is finishing very close to Judge Harris, the lowest man on the republican ticket, but it is not thought he can overcome the lead already secured by Judge Harris. Judge Gallo-way, however, made a splendid race considering the overwhelming republican majority of registered voters which he had to overcome, and he is receiving the congratulations of his friends on the strength of his popularity.

All of the proposed amendments to the constitution, with the exception of the first one on the ballot, providing for full citizenship for an alien will be permitted to vote and which carried by a large majority, were defeated in this county, as well as all of the initiative measures. The capital punishment abolition measure was defeated by a large and decisive vote.

Table with 2 columns: Candidate/Measure and Votes. Includes Hawley (7,030), Hollister (3,065), Booth (5,329), Chamberlain (6,944), Governor (5,328), Withycombe (7,381), Prohibition (6,958), Against (5,664), Supreme Court—Bean (5,969), Benson (5,493), Crawford (2,762), Gallo-way (4,258), Harris (5,250), McBride (5,471), Ramsey (3,130), Slater (2,763).

NEWS OF THE WAR AS GATHERED FROM THE BATTLEFIELDS

Only Ten Miles Off English Coast German Warships Sunk Submarine

FLEET IS SHELLING DARDANELLES FORTS

Allies Claim Germans Were Decisively Defeated in Fight Near Ostend

England was fearful today of a German naval descent on its coast. The British fleet was on the lookout for a strong squadron from Wilhelmshaven and raids from Belgian ports were also deemed likely.

Until it heard the British side of the story the London admiralty refused to believe German accounts of a British defeat off Chile. Nevertheless there was anxiety at Ottawa concerning possible activities by the kaiser's squadron in Chilean waters against Canadian Pacific coast cities.

Only ten miles off the English coast German warships sank a British submarine. A British mine layer was blown up by a mine off Lowestoft.

British rejoiced at news that the German cruiser Yorck had been destroyed near the Weser's mouth with the loss of 500 lives.

It was reported that Japanese cruisers had sunk the German cruiser Konigsberg in the Indian ocean.

A Black sea battle between Turkish and Russian squadrons was reported, though without verification.

Turkish warships sank two Russian merchantmen in the Black sea.

The Anglo-French Mediterranean fleet continued bombarding the Turks' Dardanelles forts.

Two British cruisers were bombarded by the Turkish port, Juffa.

Another Turkish port, Diddah, was bombarded by the British cruiser Minerva.

All the allies' accounts agree that the Germans had been decisively defeated between Ostend and the Franco-Belgian frontier.

They were massing, however, near Ypres, Lille and Arras for a fresh attempt to reach Duinkerke.

The allies were concentrating to resist them. The allies' version was that there was no place where they were not holding the enemy in check, and in places they said they were advancing.

The Germans asserted they were themselves advancing in the Ypres and Arras districts.

In East Prussia the Germans were lying up against the Russians between Lyck and Danzig.

2000 SALOONS TO OPEN

Columbus, Ohio, Nov. 5.—Forty counties previously dry became wet automatically, it was announced today, as a result of the election returns showing the home rule liquor amendment had carried. It was estimated that 2000 saloons will open up for business soon in new territory.

WASHINGTON IS DRY BY ABOUT 15,000

Bill to Abolish Private Employment Agencies Has Probably Carried

Seattle, Wash., Nov. 5.—Washington has voted dry by a majority of from 10,000 to 15,000. It re-elected United States Senator Wesley L. Jones, republican, by a large plurality over W. W. Black, democrat, and Ole Hanson, progressive. It re-elected Congressman W. E. Humphrey, Albert Johnson and William La Follette, republicans. It elected Lindley H. Hadley, republican, to congress in the Second district and C. G. Dill, in the Fifth district.

In 1800 precincts throughout the state on prohibition was as follows: Dry, 139,672; wet, 128,321.

In King county, the progressives elected three county officers and two more are running a close race with their republican rivals. The rest of the winners are republicans, including Miss Eliza M. Whitehead, the first woman elected as justice of the peace in Seattle. Miss Whitehead has been a deputy in the prosecuting attorney's office for five years. She is about 28 years old.

The eight-hour law was defeated by more than 2 to 1.

Eight hundred precincts throughout the state indicate the election of Judges Chadwick, Crow and Holcomb to the supreme bench.

All the initiative and referendum measures were beaten with the exception possibly of the bill to abolish private employment agencies and the bill providing first aid for injured workmen. The "blue sky" measure also has a chance to win.

GENERAL VON KLUK DOWN ON HIS LUCK

Is Killed Twice, Dies of Wounds and After All This Is Fired Out of Army

Paris, Nov. 5.—Battle front reports received at General Gallieni's headquarters here were increasingly optimistic today.

That the Germans had been decisively defeated in Belgium, between Ostend and the French frontier, and were being driven backward toward their own border, was stated positively.

The report that General Von Kluk was dead persisted. The correspondent of "Excelsior," which first published it, said he had the news from a source he could not reveal but one which he treated implicitly. According to his account, the general was wounded in one of the recent fights and died at a hospital in Namur.

Another account was that he was killed by an aviator who dropped a bomb upon his headquarters. A third story was that he was not dead but had been superseded for wanting his men.

None of these stories was confirmed and at General Gallieni's headquarters none was believed.

Recent German reinforcements to reach the front, it was said, are mostly youths and but partially trained.

ALL WANT HAND IN THE CAPTURE OF CONSTANTINOPLE

France and Russia Do Not Want Russia to Get Possession Alone

WOULD MAKE TROUBLE IN LAST SETTLEMENT

If Czar Gets Possession Fear He Would Hold It In Case Germany Is Beaten

New York, Nov. 5.—The British admiralty's reluctance to admit the reported recent victory of Admiral Von Sps' German cruiser squadron over a quartet of British fighting ships under Admiral Craddock off the Chilean coast, seemed today to be due to the failure of any of the accounts to mention the British battleship Canopus in connection with the engagement.

The Canopus had been sent to reinforce Admiral Craddock's squadron but apparently had not joined it. It is armed with four 12-inch guns and had it been a participant in the battle, these weapons would have given the British an artillery preponderance which appears actually to have been possessed by the Germans.

Von Sps and Craddock evidently had been maneuvering to catch one another in inferior strength, and the German commander won the strategic game.

The Canopus is a 16-year-old battleship with a speed of 18.5 knots. The cruisers Moennouth and Good Hope, both of which are reported lost with all hands, were equal to 23 knots, and the Glasgow, the cruiser said to be interned, badly damaged, in Chilean waters, could make 25.

Made a Mistake. This being the case and in view of the fact that the weather was bad, with a gale blowing and a heavy sea, at the time the battle was fought, it is possible that the fleetier cruisers had become separated from the more ponderous battleship, enabling the Germans to seize them at a disadvantage.

Craddock, too, may not have thought it necessary to wait for the Canopus when he sighted the German squadron. The British cruisers are built with a view to maneuverability in heavy weather and the British sailors are specialists in rough sea fighting, so perhaps their admiral underestimated the German advantage over him in weight of metal.

Great Britain's declaration of war against Turkey is evidence of the London government's belief that the peace treaty in Constantinople cannot be relied on to hold the pro-German young Turks in check. Assuming the accuracy of this judgment and with Russia forcing the fighting along the Turkish frontier, the quick assumption of the offensive by the British has advantageous possibilities to them.

Without in any way suggesting to Russia that it is entering into rivalry with the latter, Great Britain probably will in reality engage in a race with the Russians on land to get first to Constantinople by sea.

Want Past Dardanelles. The Dardanelles have been so thoroughly mined that it had been thought it would be impossible for warships to pass them on the way to the Turkish capital, but the fact that the Anglo-French fleet is shelling them makes it apparent that these two allies intend to make every effort to get through and attempt to compel Constantinople's surrender to their squadrons.

In this way alone can the British and French frustrate Russia's desire to subdue Turkey single handed. Neither of them can spare troops from the western field of war for service in the near east and nothing remains but their joint Mediterranean fleet to represent them in the campaign against the sultan.

If this fleet takes Constantinople, the city's disposition after the war will not be a matter concerning which the czar will have the paramount voice. If, on the other hand, it is taken by Russian troops alone, a peace treaty remains in possession cannot very well be resisted at the peace conference.

HURT BY AEROPLANE

San Diego, Cal., Nov. 5.—Glenn Martin and Captain Goodhue, United States aviation corps at North Island, were injured in an aeroplane accident today. They were picked up and brought to a hospital in this city.

Examination at the hospital showed that neither of the aviators was fatally injured. Captain Goodhue has a broken leg. Martin was unconscious when picked up, but came to and apparently is not in danger.
