TAKING A FLIER IN FARMING.

A young man in the government service at Washington, D. C. as a stenographer recently leased 113 acres of mud flats, where, he was told by the government experts, he could realize $75,000 profits in five years in farming. Quite a tidy sum and enough to entice almost any stenographer from his typewriter. Once in his life nearly every man deludes himself into believing that he can become a successful farmer, just as he has weathered respectively an ambition to become a president, to sing in the choir or to make his fortune at poker. Owing to the fertility of the soil, the favorable climate and the industry of their wives, many indifferent sort of farmers in Willamette valley are making a living in spite of themselves. Good farmers are successful here as well as almost everywhere else. The really successful farmers of this country, however, have not only had years of experience, but are shrewd business men, capable managers, and clear thinkers with a special insight into the future.

A novice has no more license to run a farm than a jewelry store. Keen competition is felt on the farm as in other lines of business and to make a success of it special aptitude and training are required. Common sense helps but technical knowledge and caloused palms are also necessary. The young man who expects to take a "flier" in farming as in the stock market and clean up $75,000 will doubtless emerge from his experiences with a more wholesome respect for the "rubes" and he will have gained the knowledge that farming is a serious business, even a profession, with the result that he will probably be glad to get his $300 job back again.

NEUTRALITY AND THE SHIPPING BILL.

We do not pretend to know much about international law but it seems to us that the course to be pursued by a strictly neutral nation in this crisis is plain. It is simply to go ahead buying and selling and doing business much as before the war broke out. We ought to sell to all warring nations alike, but take no contracts to deliver the goods safely at their destination if within the war zone. With neutral nations we all should insist upon no interference with our commerce from any belligerent if the goods are carried in neutral bottoms or ships flying the American flag. This would apply to the usual course of trade between the United States and the nations of Europe not engaged in the war, like the Scandinavian countries, Italy, Spain and several others.

The objection of England to this country buying the German steamers, as provided for in the administration's ship purchase bill, is as unjust as Germany's contention that we should not sell any goods to the allies that will in any way assist them in the prosecution of the war. Both of these belligerents are simply taking a selfish view of the question with the hope of gaining a partisan advantage. We should insist on our right to buy goods or ships which we want from any belligerent nation just the same now as at any other time. It is not our fight.

The opponents of the ship purchase bill, however, are not concerned because the buying of these ships might be considered an unfriendly act by the allies. That is a point set up only to cloak the real issue, which is the desire of the shipping trust to continue levying tribute on American commerce. It is anxious to keep the government out of the shipping business in order to perpetuate its monopoly.

The senators who are opposing the shipping bill are no doubt influenced by the strong lobby always maintained at the national capital by the capitalists who own the comparatively few ships which fly our flag on the ocean.

The Germans have announced that they might crown an Austrian nobleman as king of the part of Poland they now control. Should they be compelled later to retire "for strategic reasons" a small add—"Experienced King would accept position on reasonable terms"—inserted in the Mexican newspapers might secure him steady employment for a week or two.

"Heney's manager is now his wife," reads a headline. The next one will probably run, "Heney's wife is now his manager."

LUMBER INDUSTRY AND THE TARIFF.

Concluding a long and lame explanation of why the Canadians are buying lumber of Oregon mills since the Underwood law removed the duty from that commodity, the Oregonian says:

"If the Salem paper will make inquiry of any lumberman it will discover a fixed opinion with him that the lumber business is just now a sad thing to be flippant about."

Admitted that this is true. But the lumber business was in an unsatisfactory condition before the Underwood bill was enacted. All over the world construction operations were at a standstill due to a financial and business depression, the cause of which could not be laid at the door of the Wilson administration because it was not confined to this country. The war in Europe has operated to accentuate this condition by its disturbance of financial operations and practically tying up the commerce of the world.

But the point is that the Oregonian contended that Canadian mills would take even the domestic markets away from our lumbermen, and here we are now supplying such demand as there is in the provinces across the line. Mill men report, too, a brisk demand in the middle west of the United States where the high price of cereals has made money plentiful, and building operations have been resumed. The bugaboo of Canadian competition has already been dissipated because it was only a political dodge to influence the elections. As a matter of fact the Canadian northwest mills are further from the most important market centers for lumber and it costs as much to produce lumber over the line as it does in Oregon or Washington because wages are just as high in the mills and camps there and all other operating expenses fully as heavy.

The Oregonian has simply shown itself a false prophet in respect to the effect of free trade on the lumber industry, the same as it did when it asserted that free wool would impoverish the woolgrowers. The reverse has proved true by actual application of the new trade policy.

The Australian troops have adopted the following marching song.

Fellers of Australia, blokes and coveys and coveys,
Shift your bloody carcasses, move yer bloody boots;
Gird your bloody loins up, get yer bloody guns,
Set the bloody enemy, and watch the raskals run.
Get a bloody move on, have some bloody sense,
Learn the bloody art of self delibody sense.

This may be an appropriate war song but why should the Britons in the same breath criticize our use of the English language?

Keepers of Zoological gardens have discovered that monkeys live healthier in the open air than when confined to an artificially heated atmosphere. If someone would discover that the same cure held good for human beings and would charge a little something for the "secret" in order that it might be taken seriously, quack doctors and cure-all medicine vendors would begin to wonder what phase of the tariff had wrought havoc with their business.

The Baker farmer who seized a rabid coyote by the tail and swung the animal around his head was undoubtedly a brave man but it will be noticed that he took the only sure means of keeping in the rear.

A couple of romantic tourists were married on a dizzy cliff at San Diego. They will probably come down to the real earth like everybody else soon enough.

It seems that Independence hasn't learned to take it straight yet. They are trying to get a beet sugar factory over there.

Seeing the World

"He jugged around from town to town, to see the world," was his excuse; he'd get a job and hold it down a little while, then turn it loose. "Oh, stay," employees use to say; "your moving is a foolish trick; you'll soon be earning bigger pay, for we'll promote you pretty quick." "That's how I punch," he would reply, "and every street is named after me." "I see the world before I die—I do not wish to stagnate here." Then he was young and quick and strong, and jobs were thick, as he juggled by, till people passed the word along that on him no one could rely. Then, when he landed in a town, and wished to earn a humble trade, the stern employers turned him down. "We want you not, your record's bad." He's homeless in these windy days, he has no bed, no place to stay; he "saw the world" in every phase; the world saw him—and passed him up. It's good to "see the world," no doubt, but one should make his humble first, or age will find him down and out, panhandling for the wicker-wast.

"I am going to make an effort to sell my property here and if I am successful will come out and invest all the money I am worth in the state of Oregon." This is an extract from a letter written to the Commercial club by Alfred Smith, of Grand Rapids, Wis., which shows that Mr. Smith has the proper Oregon fever.

A Logical Dyspepsia Treatment

IMPORTANCE OF ELIMINATING ACIDITY AND FOOD FERMENTATION.

During the past two or three years reports have frequently appeared in the Press concerning the remarkable value of bisurated magnesia as an antacid, and its ability to promote normal, healthy digestion by preventing food fermentation and neutralizing dangerous stomach acid has often been demonstrated. Until recently druggists could supply bisurated magnesia in powder form only, from one to two teaspoonfuls of which, taken in a little water after meals, almost instantly stops all fermentation and neutralizes acid, but sufferers from stomach trouble will be glad to learn that, after a long series of experiments, a leading firm of manufacturing druggists has now succeeded in producing a 5 grain tablet which combines all the valuable antacid properties of the ordinary bisurated magnesia in a very convenient form. This new tablet of bisurated magnesia can now be obtained of druggists everywhere and many physicians are already prescribing them instead of the powder form.

OPEN FORUM

Do Representatives and Public Officials Regard the Will of the People?

To the Editor: If a majority of the people, in a legal election say that they want a certain thing, is that not the will of the people? Can any legislative body have a reasonable excuse for annulling or abbreviating a law which the people have voted on and approved? Has the Oregon legislature the power to repeal or limit a law enacted by the people? If so such power should be taken from it. Any man who disregards the will of the people is not representative of such people, and is not to be trusted with peoples business.

There was an eight hour law enacted by the people in 1912—majority 16000. That law has been made a joke by the very people whose duty it was and is to put it in operation; the very people who should lead in loyalty to our laws.

Can any one consistently say that the people did not mean it to apply to State institutions? Note the following:

A law: "To protect subcontractors, material men and laborers performing labor for the State or any municipality or subdivision, requiring a sufficient bond to protect the State from liens; defining the duties of State officials; in awarding and carrying out contracts; declaring eight hours to be a day's labor in all cases where the State or any County, school districts, municipality or subdivision is concerned."

This is the preamble of the law that appeared on the ballot. Could it possibly be misunderstood when it plainly says: eight hours shall constitute a day's labor in all cases where the State is concerned?

Are men who are willing and anxious to modify this law, against the will of the people, the proper ones to represent us as lawmakers? Are men who studiously plan to outwit the law, in order that they may tell the taxpayers how much money they have saved them, the proper ones for us to place in positions of trust? Your part of the tax might be five cents; I doubt if it would be as much. Would you rather have the employees of the State institutions on duty from fourteen to twenty-four hours per day than pay this small amount? If other States operate their institutions on an eight hour system with an added cost of seven or eight per cent, why can't Oregon do as well? Was our State treasurer consistent with integrity when he over-estimated to the public, the supposed cost of putting on the night hour system at the asylum; or were his figures made to create public sentiment against the law, and pave the way for an easy decision by the court? Was he consistent with intelligence when he said a full extra crew would have to be employed on Sunday?

Could not a man qualified to fill the position of State treasurer figure that one relief attendant could accommodate a group of six, letting one attend off each day, and taking his on the seventh?

Was our labor commissioner honest in his little spurge for the law? If he honestly wanted to serve the people and enforce the law, why did he quit just at the time he had a good opportunity to proceed with effect?

Could it be possible that he had an understanding with the "Ring" to go so far and no farther? I wonder if he really expects any enlightened working man to vote for him in the future?

How long do you suppose the people will stand for misrepresentation and dishonesty? Is it not high time the laboring people including farmers who do part or all of their own work should vote together for their own interests, and cease to be led or have their opinions formed for them by some popular politician? and not be influenced or frightened by any political battle cry, such as Bossism, Socialism or Single Tax?

When any one, even a representative of any labor organization, though one of their number, is appointed or elected to represent them either in the legislature or as a public official, his personal interest are no longer identical with those of the worker. It is just as natural that he would be influenced by his personal interests as you and I would be ours. Therefore, I am sure it is high time for the laborers to take full advantage of the initiative and referendum and thereby represent themselves.

D. D. D. In Hospitals; Standard Skin Cure

How many hospital patients, suffering from the frightful itch, the raw scorching pain of skin disease, have been soothed to sleep by a soothing fluid washed in by the nurse's hands?

That fluid is the famous D. D. D. prescription for eczema.

THE SUPERBING WURDE of one of our prominent Catholic institutions (name of nurse and institute on application), writes regarding a patient: "The disease had eaten her eyebrows away. Her nose and lips had become disfigured. Since the use of D. D. D. her eyebrows are growing, her nose and face have assumed their natural expression."

How many eczema sufferers are paying their doctors for regular treatment and are being treated with this same soothing, healing fluid?

DR. GEO. T. RICHARDSON frankly writes: "D. D. D. is superior to anything I have ever found. Soft and soothing. Yet a powerful agent."

To do the work, D. D. D. Prescription must be applied according to directions given in the pamphlet around every bottle. Follow these directions—and see!

And it certainly takes away the itch at once—the moment the liquid is applied. The skin is soothed—calmed—so thoroughly refreshed—delightfully cooled.

All druggists of standing have the famous specific as well as the efficient D. D. D. Skin Soap.

But we are so confident of the merit of this prescription that we will refund the purchase price of the first full size bottle if it fails to reach your case. You alone are to judge.

To do the work, D. D. D. Prescription must be applied according to directions given in the pamphlet around every bottle. Follow these directions—and see!

And it certainly takes away the itch at once—the moment the liquid is applied. The skin is soothed—calmed—so thoroughly refreshed—delightfully cooled.

All druggists of standing have the famous specific as well as the efficient D. D. D. Skin Soap.

But we are so confident of the merit of this prescription that we will refund the purchase price of the first full size bottle if it fails to reach your case. You alone are to judge.

DR. GEO. T. RICHARDSON frankly writes: "D. D. D. is superior to anything I have ever found. Soft and soothing. Yet a powerful agent."
