SHIPPED 11 BOXES OF SURGICAL DRESSINGS

Red Cross Doing Immense Amount of Work, But Needs More Workers

The surgical dressing department of the Red Cross, with headquarters at the postoffice building yesterday shipped 11 boxes of surgical dressings to Seattle to be forwarded on to France. Each of these large shipping boxes are of regulation size, three feet long, two feet wide and two feet deep. These eleven boxes contained the following: 600 split irrigation pads, made of cotton, each one inch thick, 21 inches wide and 28 inches long covered with surgical gauze; 324 absorbent pads, 12 by 24 and one inch thick; 776 absorbent pads, each 8 by 12 inches, one inch thick, and 4,000 gauze compresses, 8 by 4 inches, a total of 5,760 pieces, each so carefully made that headquarters at Seattle does not examine materials made by the surgical dressing department of Salem. They are forwarded directly to France without inspection.

This large shipment is part of the quota from Salem, as ten boxes were shipped a week ago. The promptness with which this shipment is made is due to the good will with which the women of Salem responded to the call for workers in this department, especially during the past ten days.

During the past week, workers to the number of 35 daily have been given direction of Mrs. Milton Meyers and her able assistants.

On Wednesday mornings, instructions are given to two classes from the High school and Fridays, to a class from the Sacred Heart Academy. In this present surgical dressing work, there is nothing difficult and it is explained that no woman would find trouble in doing the work, as there is nothing technical about it.

Those who are new to the work are given instruction by some of the assistants. Although there is an average of 35 workers, many more are needed as the quota for Salem requires a large force working daily.

Workers report at 9:30 in the morning or at 1:30 in the afternoon. Just at present those with cotton cards would do the service a favor by reporting for work. These cotton cards are not to be found on the market and yet in the work of preparing the odds and ends of cotton they are necessary.

The main thing Mrs. Meyers wishes to impress on those who would really like to do some patriotic duty is that all are most cordially welcome and that no one will find the work difficult or irksome. The surgical dressing room is at the postoffice, upstairs.

Asks Nation to Observe Liberty Day, April 26

The following telegram was received this afternoon by P. G. Deckbach, chairman of the Marion county liberty loan committee:

"President Wilson has issued a proclamation designating Friday, April 26, as Liberty Day. He requests the people of the United States to assemble at their respective communities to pledge again their financial support to the nation's cause, and to hold patriotic demonstrations under the auspices of the liberty loan committee. He requests that the nation's response to the third liberty loan should be in unmistakable terms the declaration of America to fight for permanent peace and justice. All government employees whose services can be spared may be excused at noon Friday, April 26, for the purpose of participating in celebrations. Please give this the widest publicity and work for the greatest cooperation possible."

EDWARD COOKINGHAM, Executive chairman of the Oregon state central liberty loan committee.

Solomon's Troubles Nothing Like This

Judge Webster is up against a rather perplexing proposition. Criminal law and letting people out on bond has become sort of second nature to the judge, but when he is called on to judge a lady's Jersey silk dress and what it is worth after the dyes and cleaners have had hold of it, that is a problem entirely out of his line of thought.

But he will soon be obliged to make a decision as yesterday Mrs. A. Schilling brought suit in his court against the Standard Cleaners for damages done to a Jersey silk party dress.

Mrs. Schilling claims she paid $25 for it and that after it was returned from the cleaners, it had shrunk so that she could not wear it.

The defense claims they are not responsible for the shrunken dress as they used the usual methods of cleaning such goods and anyhow, the dress wasn't worth $25 in the condition in which it was brought to them.

It is now up to the judge to examine the dress and if such a thing is possible, render a decision according to law and at the same time do justice to the new party dress. The attorneys for both sides will submit briefs and then the judge will go into retirement while he is holding the case under advisement.

600 Graduate From Officers Training Camp

Tacoma, Wash., April 20.—Six hundred young Americans, the cream of the army camp, were graduated today where for the past three months they from the third officers training camp have been undergoing training in preparation for officers' commissions. They were received at Camp Lewis today by Major General Green who spoke to them of the duties that lie ahead of them and the responsibilities which will hereafter be theirs.

Monday morning the men will be back with their old organizations to await a call to active service as officers.

Street Commissioner Lowe stated this morning that the new pipe in the Ferry street sewer had been laid, and a concrete cap laid over the top of it to reinforce it where the railroad tracks on Front street pass over the concrete to harden before refilling the trench. Over a week's work remains yet before the repair work will be completed.

Court House News

Percy M. Collier, executor of the estate of E. P. McCormack filed a report yesterday with the county court of the sale to Clifford Brown of 208 acres for $8320. The land is located between Mill Creek and Turner and known as part of the donation land claims of Henry Ricey and John Baum. The sale was approved by Judge Bushy.

Magdalene Butte, administratrix of the estate of William Butte filed her annual report showing receipts of $370.60 and after paying all expenses, a balance of $229.84 on hand.

On petition of Carolina Daboreo, the mother and only surviving heir of David E. Johnson who died April 18, 1918, the county court appointed F. O. Johnson, a brother of the deceased as administratrix. Letters of administration will be wanted on his filing a satisfactory bond for $16,400.

Louis Lachmund, administrator for the estate of Joseph Harris who died April 26, 1915, filed his final account yesterday with the county court. The estate was appraised at $4044.58. The receipts from the sale of the estate amounted to $5223.51 and the amount paid out, $4976.23, leaving a balance on hand of $547.28. The final hearing was ordered by the court for May 25, 1918.

A notice of appeal to the supreme court was filed in the case of R. H. Chapin against J. D. Allen, involving the title to property.

To quiet title to property, a suit was filed by E. O. Lange against Angie McAttee and others.

Receiving his namesake's mail and sometimes his namesake's bills are only some of the joys and tribulations of bearing the name of Smith. The city directory shows that 103 families of Smiths live in Salem. However, the point in this item is that Frank Smith, a stockbuyer who lives at 2678 Oak street, is not the same Frank Smith who was hailed into court yesterday as the result of a mixup with Sam Louie, the Chinaman, Thursday night. Mr. Smith stepped into the Journal office today and endeavored to explain the embarrassment he was put to when his friends would stop him and enquire if he was the Frank Smith who got arrested for beating up the Chinaman. He explains that he is proud of the name of Smith, because recruiting of fine patriots show that something like 120,000 Smiths are in the service for Uncle Sam, but that it was his namesake and not he that had the trouble with the Chinaman.

The Chinook salmon below the falls at Oregon City are due to pass a day of great agony and suffering tomorrow.

For 10, four great nimrods from Salem will appear upon the face of the water in their midst, with hooks and gaffs and spinners and cunning devices to blind the eyes of the unsuspecting salmon. The rest may be left to the imagination of the reader. The four said nimrods are Max Gehlar, W. F. Briesteke, Fred Leise and Jack Richards, who will leave in the morning by the light of the stars for the falls of the Willamette, with Gehlar at the wheel of the sporting monster which will carry them to their destination.

L. J. Simpson, republican candidate for the nomination for governor and one of Oregon's real big men, is in the city this afternoon renewing old acquaintances and making new.

Vick Bros. report that they are unable to keep enough tractors on hand showing that this modern way of farming is taking well with the progressive farmers in this vicinity.
