Largest Stock Woolens in Salem

Our stock of woolens is not only large but is of superb quality. Practically all of it was purchased at former season's prices—before the recent increase in wholesale cost—at a time when woolen goods were superior in quality to anything in the market today. Order a suit made from our present stock of woolens and you secure the advantages of better material and lower price.

Many of our customers, realizing that woolens will soon be inferior in quality and higher in price, are ordering two and three suits at present prices.

Come in and select the material you prefer. Absolutely no cotton mixtures used here.

Ivan Fruit Now Aboard Battleship New Orleans

New York, April 8, 1918.

Ivan Fruit: Dear Grandpa: I suppose you are thinking of making gardens these days, back in Oregon. Trees, grass and flowers would look pretty good to me now. About all I am able to see most of the time is water. We have been having target practice the last few days and I have been on the target repair party. We have to change and fix the targets if they get smashed up by shells. I thought it lots of fun. They sent us out in a motor boat. The sea was pretty rough and it sure did do lots of bobbing around. Fact is, it nearly swamped us with two or three times. Got about a third full of water. I didn't fancy the sound of the shells as they passed us. They make sort of a roaring noise. You can't hear a shell until it has passed you. The guns sure do shake the ship and every one on it as far as that goes. You feel like your inside swell up all of a sudden and try to break through your skin and your ears ring for hours afterwards. We were up to Yorktown the other day, where Corwallis surrendered to Washington. I hope I am in Berlin when Hindenburg surrenders to Pershing. We have the guns, and we have the men to make him do it and the Kaiser had better look out or there won't be any Germany left. I've seen some of our big guns work and I would hate to be in front of them if they meant business. I saw the Olympia hit a target built like a submarine, only smaller. The target was about four or five feet long and about two and a half or three feet high, three times at three thousand yards, so you can see a submarine wants to look out when she monkeys around a ship like that. The gunners on our ship are not quite so good, still they make some pretty good shots. Hope you are all well.

As ever, IVAN.

The old earth is still shivering a bit in the sunny South.

State Defense League Wants Special Levy

A bill has been initiated by the State next fall, entitled: "For an act to be passed on next fall, entitled: 'For an act levying during the period of the war between the United States and Germany, an annual tax of one mill on the dollar on all taxable property within the state for the protection of life, liberty and property, and providing for the creation and disbursement of an Emergency fund.'"

Section 1 of the proposed bill provides that the fund is to be known as the Emergency War Fund.

Section 2 provides that the amount of the tax beginning with the year 1918 shall be charged to the several counties the same as other state revenues and shall be paid into the state treasury the same as other state revenue.

Section 3 gives the State Board of Control authority to disburse the Emergency War Fund for the protection of life, liberty and property during the period of the war, the board's action to be determined by a majority of the board.

Section 4 states that after the termination of the war by a treaty of peace no further taxes shall be imposed.

Section 5 provides that money left in the War Emergency Fund at the close of the war shall constitute a part of the common school fund of the state known as the irrevocable school fund.
