A handmade quilt by Glenn Miller's mother is making a return appearance at the Sisters Outdoor Quilt Show.

HISTORY: Family quilts were in first show 40 years ago

"Mom made quilts for all of us kids at one point in her life," Miller said.

Most were made by an aunt. "I used to buy quilts when I was doing big custom homes," Miller said. "I used to buy them from my Amish aunt as a housewarming gift." With the Quilt Show celebrating its 40th year in Sisters, it seemed appropriate to break out the heirloom quilts.

"Jean Wells (founder of the quilt show) actually told the gals to give me a call and see if I still had them," Miller said. "I've had 'em at home in a cedar chest for years."

AWARD: Sidewalk safety got attention, too

ice of winter, there are many other hazards that are present year-round that need attention like low-hanging vegetation, irrigation overspray, and deteriorating sidewalks.

All of these conditions can create challenging and often dangerous conditions on commercial sidewalks.

Cowgirls and Indians Resale and The Pony Express were honored for their efforts at keeping their sidewalks safe for pedestrians.

RABIES: Make sure vaccination is up to date effective," Deschutes County Communicable Disease Program Supervisor Heather Kaisner says, the best plan is prevention. "People should avoid contact with bats and vaccinate dogs and cats against rabies. While bats play a valuable role in nature, contact with humans should be avoided."

Sick bats may be seen flopping around on the ground or otherwise acting unusual. If you find a sick bat or other sick wildlife on your property, take children and pets indoors and call the ODFW at 541-947-2950 and call the Communicable Disease Reporting Line at 541-322-7418.

To protect your pet, make sure rabies vaccinations are up to date. Emilio DeBess, the state public-health veterinarian, advises that dogs, cats, and ferrets be vaccinated against rabies at three to six months of age. Initial vaccination takes about two weeks to provide peak protection for your pet. After initial vaccination, a booster is required in one year and then every three years after that.

Under Oregon law, dogs, cats, and ferrets that do not have current vaccinations and are suspected of exposure to rabies must be euthanized or placed under strict quarantine for six months.

According to the Oregon Health Authority, bats are the most common carriers of rabies in this state. So far this year three other bats have tested positive (in Benton, Josephine, and Washington Counties). The last bat positive for rabies in Deschutes County was in October of 2014. Authorities emphasize that the main protection for humans is to make sure pets are vaccinated and avoid contact with stray animals and wildlife.
