LIBRARY: Program encourages families to use library

in trouble.

The kids were then invited to climb into the fire truck and an ambulance, and pretend to be real firefighting heroes. They got to ask lots of questions about how they take care of people who are sick or in accidents and need to get to the hospital as fast as possible.

Firefighter Miller, who is also the public education coordinator for the fire department, wants to remind people that we are in a high fire-danger period and to be conscious when using flammable materials. Be sure to extinguish cigarette butts, don't throw them out car windows, drown campfires, dampen bark covering close to structures, and no outdoor burning is allowed.

She also warns "especially children and elders, who are more prone to heat stroke, to stay hydrated, carry bottled water, stay in the shade, and not to leave children or pets in the car even with the windows open for any length of time."

Librarian Flannery is excited about the Summer Reading Program and hopes it will get families in the habit of stopping by the library as part of their Saturday routine so the kids will get to know it as a safe place to hang out where fun and learning take place.

In two weeks, August 15, the Saturday program will be the LEGO® Block Party. Bring your friends and imagination. And for children who will be entering kindergarten this fall, it's Get Ready for Kindergarten with stories, songs, crafts and fun on Friday, August 21.
