VETERANS: Honor and education meet in observances

Horsley’s remarks: I think it was the camaraderie with the people I flew with,” he said. Wilkins urged the young people to “spend time talking to a veteran. Ask them their story. Sit down and talk with them.” On November 12, the Sisters Kiwanis Club devoted its monthly meeting to observance of Veterans Day. Air Force veteran Dave Huni recounted his trip to Rwanda just after the genocide in the 1990s, working as a general’s aide. Dave Cox recounted of a post-war return to Vietnam, which triggered an unexpectedly powerful emotional response in him. Cox remarked upon the remarkable number of Kiwanians who had served in the military. “I am stunned ... at how many of us are veterans,” he said. “It does say something about the veteran mentality.” An ethic of service was evident both in the memories of veterans, and in the efforts the students made to honor them. And it was summed up in a remark made by Horsley: “Each of you has the opportunity to be of priceless value to another.”

Lake Creek Lodge to host fundraiser

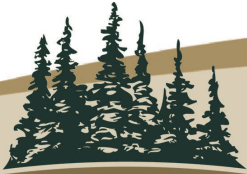

Folks looking for some home made dessert with their Thanksgiving dinner celebrations can head out to Lake Creek Lodge and enjoy a unique selection — while boosting the education of local kids. The Lake Creek Lodge Thanksgiving Pie Extravaganza features home-made pies created by the parents of Black Butte School children in Camp Sherman. The pies range from pumpkin to all kinds of berry pies. There is no cost to indulge in the pie buffet — but the Lodge will accept donations, which will benefit Black Butte School in Camp Sherman. The present day two-room schoolhouse, dedicated in September 1950, is the home to students in grades K-8 who are educated in mixed-aged classrooms that allow for individualized educational opportunities, experiential projects, and collaboration. The cornerstone field studies program sets the Black Butte School apart, as it engages students outside of the classroom in direct exploration of their local environment and community through field expeditions and projects. The Thanksgiving Pie Extravaganza runs from two to four p.m. on Thursday, November 26. For more information call 541-516-3030. Car seat check-up set for Nov. 21

The Sisters-Camp Sherman Fire District will be conducting a child car seat checkup event on Saturday, November 21 from 10 a.m. to noon. The event will be held at the fire station at 301 S. Elm Street in Sisters. Nationally-certified car seat technicians will check the child’s seat for recalls, proper fit in the vehicle, and proper fit with the child. Caregivers will then be assisted in installing their child’s seat properly. According to the Centers for Disease Control (CDC), motor vehicle injuries are the leading cause of preventable deaths and injuries to children in the United States. Correctly used child safety seats can reduce the risk of death by as much as 71 percent. Most car seats are either installed incorrectly, or do not fit the child properly. All children under 4 feet 9 inches in height should ride in a car seat, with a few exceptions. This can include children as old as 8 years in age. All children under 4 feet 9 inches in height should ride in a car seat... This can include children as old as 8 years in age. Call the fire station at 541-549-0771 for information.
