Sisters Businesses Are... AT YOUR SERVICE!

Habitat For Humanity

If your New Year's resolutions include getting more involved in your community, there's no better way to do that than volunteering for Sisters Habitat for Humanity. Your help can change lives for Sisters families.

Positions are available for volunteers at the Thrift Store, at ReStore, and on construction sites. No experience is necessary for any of those positions — you'll get your training by doing.

Volunteer orientations are set for the first and third Wednesday of each month, at noon at the Habitat offices (upstairs above the Thrift Store). Call 541-549-1193 or email marie@sistershabitat.org to RSVP.

Sisters Habitat for Humanity has provided housing opportunities for well over 30 families in Sisters. The Thrift Store and ReStore raise funds for that effort, while providing quality, low-cost used goods to the community. Join up and have fun while making a big difference in your community.

Greg Johnson, Exit Realty

I am a "Recreologist" by trade and possess a passion for the active lifestyle Sisters and Central Oregon offer.

I am in the real estate business where real estate is my product but people are my business.

Before moving to Central Oregon I spent 25-plus years in the recreation and parks business developing parks and programs, always with the interest of people in mind. I enjoy teaching the value of a leisure lifestyle filled with exploration and adventures — adventures that enrich life and the individual and contribute to the value of the individual and appreciation for their surroundings.

I am in Sisters by choice, and I love to share the reasons for my choices. I look forward to serving my clients, my friends, my family, church and community with all the benefits that our home, Sisters, has to offer.

Know that in my business dealings my goals are simple — they are yours!

Alpenhimmel

Sisters' creative headquarters at Alpenhimmel Creative Arts Emporium has enhanced its offerings to the Sisters community.

Alpenhimmel is filled with new supplies (including needlepoint supplies!) and more of everything to help you turn your artistic visions into beautiful reality. And there's still plenty of space for classes and group projects.

Alpenhimmel has expanded its lines of acrylic paints and brushes, added even more mixed-media supplies, and has dedicated a whole corner of the space to scrapbooking supplies.

All the tools and equipment for your creative endeavors are here, plus the expertise to help you approach your project.

Alpenhimmel will continue to host classes and workshops for every skill level, so be watching for their 2016 calendar to be published soon.

This is the year your creativity blossoms!

Bear Mountain Fire

Sisters Country is blanketed in snow — but fire season is just around the corner. Now is the time to tap Bear Mountain Fire to help you plan for the management of your landscape, from small acreage to an extensive spread.

Dave Vitelle has expertise in the two critical areas for forest management. He knows how to manage a landscape for optimal tree health; and he knows how to tap funding resources that can minimize or even eliminate costs for property owners.

Your forested property is a beautiful and valuable asset. Trust Bear Mountain Fire to help you protect it in the healthiest and most cost-effective manner possible.

And while they're at it, Bear Mountain Fire can provide you with excellent firewood they have produced with their newly acquired automated system. That'll keep you warm while they work on your private-land forestry plan.
