

Tara Greaney

Sisters High School December 2015 Student of the Month

Tara Greaney is Associated Student Government (ASG) President; valedictorian of her class; and IEE intern; and a three-sport athlete (swimming, track and cross-country).

What motivates her to be so active?

"I really like the school," she said. "And I have more fun when I'm involved. I like meeting new people."

She came to Sisters schools from a private school in third grade. She says she has a wider range of experiences and more opportunities because of her time in Sisters schools.

"I really like school," she said. "I like all of my subjects."

Future plans are uncertain. She may volunteer in the Peace Corps. She definitely wants to travel.

Tara expressed her appreciation for those who chose her for Student of the Month.

"I'm very honored to get this," she said.

"Responsible, dedicated and positive are the words I use to describe Tara Greaney. Outside of Tara's duties as our Student Government Present, Tara is a quiet leader that leads by example. She not only does extremely well in sports and her studies, but she sincerely wants to make a positive difference in our school. I believe she's an important part of why our school's spirit improved this year. I am grateful for her efforts, and she deserves this recognition."

— Joe Hosang, Principal

"I have worked with Tara Greaney over the past 4 years watching her grow both in the classroom and on the competition field. She pours her heart and soul into everything she does, and she does it with a smile on her face. Tara works hard to bring out the best in everyone around her, and she cares deeply about others. I would feel honored to have her on any team that I coach."

— Tim Roth, Director of Athletics and Co-Curricular Activities

"Tara is a wonderful kid. Her love of learning is inspiring to me and her classmates. I have been so fortunate to be one of her teachers. She has so many great qualities, but I appreciate her sense of humor most of all."

— Dan O'Neill, Teacher

"Working with Tara Greaney is a pure joy. She is smart, thoughtful, and generous. I cannot wait to see what she does in the future."

— Tony Cosby, Teacher

"It's such a pleasure to teach Tara."

— Janis Quiros, Teacher

"Tara stands out as a leader who has great passion for people. She genuinely strives to see the positive in every person and situation—a rare quality in people her age. I am equally impressed with her time-management skills. She is incredibly organized and always strives to produce quality work and to impress. I admire that Tara takes her learning seriously, trying to find meaning and relevancy in all she encounters. She is truly an outstanding individual with much to offer."

— Samra Spear, Teacher
