Friends celebrate Joe Leonardi

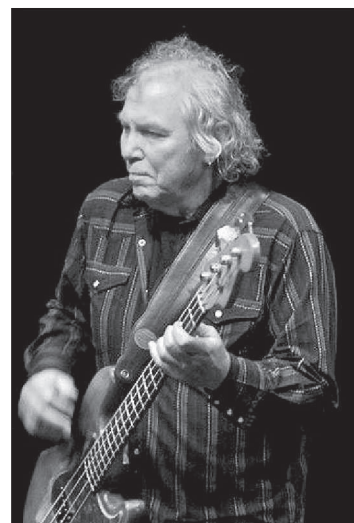

Joe "Where's The Party" Leonardi won't have any problem finding the festivities this Friday, April 22, at 6:30 p.m. at HarmonyHouse.

The party is for him — celebrating the birthday of this fixture of the Sisters music scene.

Joe's bass and soulful vocals have been a part of the fabric of Sisters for decades, and his friends are gathering to celebrate his influence in Sisters — with, of course, lots of music.

Food, beer and wine will be provided. Donations will be accepted at the door to defray costs.

HarmonyHouse is located

Joe Leonardi.

at 17505 Kent Rd. (off Cloverdale Road) east of Sisters.

ACTIVE: Staying fit has many benefits as we age

one of the late fitness trainers, Jim Holcomb.

"He didn't want to label it as senior fitness because any age could join for a better quality of life," said Tintle. "They do spinning for half the class and then balance, strength and stretch work. It's a very social group and they meet twice a week."

John Turner jokes about the fact that when his wife told him to join Sisters Athletic Club, he did.

"I had been active my whole life, but when I retired, I just stopped," Turner said. "And so 14 years ago, when this club was on Hood Avenue, I went over there and joined and did some exercising on the machines. But my self-directed exercises weren't helping that much until about five years ago. Then I found a couple of trainers that were members, too, and they volunteered to help me train every morning. I come five days a week. One day they work on my shoulders then another day on the legs, etc. Four days a week we exercise according to their program and then I do yoga one day a week with yoga instructor Jeff Vancott.

"I continue to come here because I think I feel in better shape than 25 years ago. I can do things today that I couldn't do then. As a matter of fact when I first came I couldn't bend over to tie my shoes."

Spud Halsten has also been active his whole life.

"I lived and worked most of my life in Alaska. But when I moved down here to Sisters some years ago I really wanted to be more active again, so I joined the club," he said. "I enjoy using the bicycle machine most and the elliptical. I used to swim, so I am going to be doing water aerobics pretty soon. And I like to drink coffee and socialize with the men's club."

They also have some nice social time.

"We have the men's club or the 'round table' here every morning of mostly retired men of Sisters. They congregate here, drink coffee and try to solve most of the world's problems," Tintle said, smiling.

Gun at school

SANDY, Ore. (AP) — Police say they arrested a 20-year-old man after he arrived at a high school in Sandy with a concealed handgun.

Police say Brandon Teal went to Sandy High School Wednesday with his 18-year-old brother to ask about enrollment.

School security officers stopped them because they weren't students and said they smelled marijuana on them. The men went with staff to a room where police say Teal produced two knives when asked if he had anything he shouldn't. Teal then agreed to be searched and officers say they found a third knife and a .22 caliber revolver in his waistband. Teal told police he had been carrying the gun for protection due to an incident elsewhere and said he had no intention to harm students.
