

Fourth Friday Art Walk

Helen Schmidling

Fourth Friday Art Walk is gaining momentum in Sisters! The past two walks, on April 22, and for My Own Two Hands on May 13, saw record turnout among locals and visitors to Sisters.

Here's the lineup for Friday, May 27, 4 to 7 p.m.

Hood Avenue Art is featuring watercolors by Winnie Givot and pottery by Mitch and Michelle Deaderick. Whether a face, a flower, or a mountain, Givot finds meaning through beauty, which then fills her stunning watercolors. The Deadericks create individually crafted ceramics, from multi-glazed dinnerware to whimsical totemic bird characters.

Gary Cooley's Collection Gallery highlights Bend watercolor artist and teacher Cindy Briggs. "Shimmering Waters" is the latest by this world-renowned artist, whose motto is "Make Every Day a Painting."

Clearwater Gallery's Art Stroll will be from 4 to 6 p.m., featuring oil and acrylic artist Dan Rickards, and oil artist Chris Nelson. Step back in time and see how both artists present a different way to look at the timeless theme of "Vintage."

Twigs Gallery has landscape and fiber art by Tonye Belinda Phillips and her good friend Kathy Deggendorfer. They work in different media, but their color and design sense are similar. This show focuses on elements, rather than large landscapes.

"Fish and Fowl: Native Woods," a show of recent work by Sisters artist and long-time educator Steve Mathews, is at Sisters Art Works. The exhibit will include illustrated tables, benches, mirrors, wall pieces and acrylic paintings.

"A Confluence of Eagles" by Scratch Artist Jennifer Hartwig, and prints in different styles by printmaker and photographer Lynn Woodward are featured at Sisters Gallery & Frame Shop.

Ken Scott (Imagination Gallery) says, "I sell art to make more art. I am keyed toward an honorable completion of my true calling ... connecting with the tangible and intangible, the physical and the metaphysical ... my own precious, heart connection with metals ... 43 years and counting."

Studio Redfield features

the work of husband-and-wife team Randy and Susanne Redfield: Randy's new abstract expressionist works on wood panels and a series of smaller watercolors; and Susanne's Kibak Tile line, sold for 30 years through Ann Sacks Tile and Stone, for use in residential kitchens, bathrooms, and pools, and commercial applications.

Alpenhimmel will again host a Pop-Up Gallery with collage from Justine Gibbs, mixed media assemblage from Terri Smith, acrylic paintings from Charity Alva, and mosaic jewelry from Laurie Santa-Maria. Base Camp Studio, a nonprofit art therapy organization, has provided multiple pieces of artwork for sale. Lydia Newton, from the Americana Project, will be performing.

Joining the Art Stroll this Fourth Friday is Jill Neal Gallery, in Jill's new location at 207 N. Fir St., around the corner from Cascade Fitness. Jill is exploring new abstract figures, in addition to her "Wild, Tasteful Women."

Other locations on the Fourth Friday Art Stroll are Dyrk Godby Gallery, Things Etc..., Jeffrey Murray Photography, Grizzly Ridge Upcycle, Navigator News, Sisters Library, Old West Collectibles, and Ken Merrill's Canyon Creek Pottery.

This month's Quick Draw is for a $100 gift certificate from Canyon Creek Pottery, the home of beautiful and functional pottery since 2002. The collection includes dinnerware, lamps, vases, platters, sinks, wall art, teapots, canisters, pie plates, mugs, bowls, and much more.

Quick Draw tickets are available in all Gallery Walk locations, but you can only sign up once per gallery. So the more galleries you visit, the greater your chances to win. The winner of this month's drawing will be notified immediately after the ticket is drawn, and also posted on the Sisters Arts Association's Facebook page. Maps are available in all gallery locations, as well as the Chamber of Commerce, FivePine, and other lodging facilities.
