

Seven Outlaws selected for all-league baseball teams

By Rongi Yost
Correspondent

The Outlaws had seven baseball players selected to all-league teams this year, with Ryan Cook and Ryan Funk leading the way as first-team picks.

Ryan Cook was selected first-team all-league pitcher, and finished league 4-0 with a 1.88 ERA (earned run average). Cook was a big hitter for the Outlaws, and batted at the No. 5 spot. He recorded 14 RBI and had a .320 batting average.

“This guy (Cook) wasn’t even in the starting pitching rotation last year, and so to come this far and be selected first-team is a big accomplishment,” said Coach Steve Hodges. “He’s made big strides, and was a big contributor on the team this year.”

Ryan Funk was named first-team catcher, and according to Hodges is the best catcher in the league. Funk batted clean-up hitter for the Outlaws, had a batting average of .385, and recorded 14 RBI.

“Ryan has great defensive skills,” said Hodges. “He works hard to block balls, keeps the ball in front of him, and has a strong arm.”

Alec Gannon, Zach Morgan, Christopher Luz,

Jake Larson and JW Bertagna were all second-team selections.

Gannon was named second-team infielder. Alec is a very smooth infielder and played second base. He was the Outlaws leadoff hitter and batted .348 during league play.

— Coach Steve Hodges

“Alec has good instincts and good hands, and is also a good base-stealer,” said Hodges. “He can handle the bat, and he can bunt. He’s a very versatile player, and in our last double-header he played five different positions for us; second, pitcher, shortstop, and left and center field.”

Morgan was named second-team all-league pitcher, and had an ERA of 3.9. Zach had 11 RBI during league and a batting average of .256.

“When Zach is healthy he’s a very dominant pitcher, but this year he wasn’t always healthy,” stated Hodges. “When he’s on, he’s a presence on the mound and a power-pitcher with speeds up to 80 mph.”

Luz was named second-team infielder, and played shortstop for the Outlaws.

“Christopher was selected because he has good hands and a very good glove,” said

Hodges. “He was a consistent fielder all season long, and he’s also a good bunter.”

Larson earned second-team all-league outfield, and played center field for Sisters. Jake had a batting average of .289.

“Jake was very steady all year,” said Hodges. “He has good reads on the baseball, and he knows where to throw the ball once he gets it. He’s a smart player, and I’m happy he was selected as second-team.”

JW Bertagna rounded out the all-league picks. Bertagna was named second-team all-league outfielder. JW played at left field and at first base, had a batting average of .333, and recorded 11 RBI for the Outlaws.

“JW really developed this season, and made huge strides from last year to this year” said Hodges. “He practices hard every day and his hard work paid off. He was a big contributor to the team this year.”
