

Residents consider calling for Uber, Lyft

BEND (AP) — Though ridesharing has not yet rolled into Central Oregon, some residents are calling for the service as an alternative to long waits for transportation in Bend and surrounding cities.

The Bulletin reports that current regulations in Bend covering taxi services would conflict with services like Uber and Lyft's typical way of operating, but City Attorney Mary Winters says city officials might be willing to work with the companies if they were interested in expanding to the area.

Transportation officials in the city say it's unclear if rideshare services would have consistent clientele in the city, as the demand for taxis and shuttles fluctuates.

Taxis of Bend owner Randy Mahaney says big events can cause hour-long waits for cabs, but often other times it isn't too busy.

Bend woman pleads guilty to manslaughter

BEND (AP) — A Bend woman has admitted to recklessly killing her 92-year-old grandmother on New Year's Eve.

The Bulletin reports that 45-year-old Angela Judd pleaded guilty to second-degree manslaughter in Deschutes County Circuit Court Friday as part of a plea deal reached with prosecutors. She was initially charged with murder and her trial was set to begin next week.

Prosecutors accused Judd of smothering Nada Bodholdt with a pillow in the nursing home where the grandmother was living.

Bodholdt was initially thought to have died of natural causes. The possibility of foul play only arose when Judd allegedly made a statement to her social worker.

She faces a minimum 75 months in prison when she is sentenced July 28.
