majority of riders are out for fun, and represent a range of experience and expertise.

“The course is really friendly for riders of all abilities,” he said. “The biggest draw is for people from out of the area who want to come ride in Central Oregon — get out of the mud.”

Loscutoff said that trail conditions are very good, thanks in part to the high level of moisture that the area has received.

“The trails are in really good shape right now,” he said. Race events kick off at 9 a.m. with the start of the men’s novice category. Elite men jump off at 11:25 a.m. and elite women start five minutes later. The awards ceremony is set for 3 p.m.
