There are lots of places to find those kinds of products, but when you shop with Village Interiors, you get top-of-the-line customer service, and an experienced, certified staff to help you from beginning to end. They do the work, you enjoy!

And they can bring you quality without breaking the bank. Tell them the budget you have to work with, and they'll help you find the best products to fit your needs and your pocketbook.

Make the right decision the first time — come in to Village Interiors and let them help you build your dreams.

Ace Hardware

Whether your do-it-yourself project is in the yard, garden, in your house or on your deck, Ace Hardware is your Sisters DIY headquarters. As any DIY'er can tell you, any project requires multiple trips to the hardware store — so it's great that Ace is right here in Sisters. They've got basic lumber supplies for your DIY projects, and they're adding to their already large selection of fasteners. Plumbing, gardening, paint — you name it, they've got it. And, if by chance they don't have it in stock, they can get it in a hurry.

That keeps you off the road and on the task at hand. And the hometown staff is friendly, knowledgeable and happy to answer your questions and help get you pointed in the right direction on your project.

Sisters Ace Hardware is a woman-owned, family-operated hardware store that lives out the small-town values of family, community and helping your neighbor.

Pony Express

It's August. There's still plenty of summer left — but school days are just around the corner.

The Pony Express is your local resource for school supplies. And if you have a student who is heading off to college, come on in and get some help getting everything shipped off to where it needs to go so you know it'll get there on time and in good shape. Same goes for snowbirds. If you're planning on heading out before the snow flies, The Pony Express can get just about anything off to its destination.

Getting set for the eclipse on August 21? The Pony Express offers safe eclipse sunglasses — and commemorative cards and postcards by renowned Sisters artist Dan Rickards.

Whether you're planning ahead for the start of school or just need some everyday supplies, The Pony Express is convenient, local and ready to serve the Sisters community.

Cascades Academy

At Cascades Academy, academic achievement is an important part of our mission. Our expectations are high, but we're also aware that the process of learning is just as important as the product. We believe that learning how to learn is just as important as learning the answers. It is the lifelong love of learning that we seek.

We are excited to be nearing completion on our new upper school wing, which includes an IDEA (Innovation, Design, Engineering and Art) Lab with a focus on innovation and technology, a PK-12 nature-based play area, dedicated spaces for music and drama, and expanded parking.

Our goal is to prepare our students for the diverse and changing world of the 21st century. These new spaces will provide increased opportunities for our students to foster the important skills of creativity, innovation, critical thinking, problem-solving, communication, and collaboration.
