Shop Local For Quality Service & Products

Folks love living in Sisters because of its small-town charm. But living in a small town doesn't mean you have to sacrifice big-time service. Sisters is full of quality, professional people operating all sorts of businesses that help enhance the quality of your life in Sisters Country.

Your local businesses are owned and operated by your friends and neighbors. They gear their products and services to OUR needs and interests. And spending your dollars locally ensures that the community itself stays healthy. Each dollar you spend circulates seven times in the Sisters economy. Local business owners care about their hometown — they support the schools, employ local folks and help make the community vibrant.

And when the quality is this good, there's no reason to look anywhere else!

Annie's Healing Hearts

Losing a beloved animal companion is a wrenching experience. Annie's Healing Hearts offers compassionate, empathetic private pet cremation services for those who are grieving their loss.

The founders of Annie's Healing Hearts has walked the path, which started with their beloved dog Annie.

When they lost Annie, they found that their options for caring, compassionate services were extremely limited — and they vowed to change that. They set out to provide the members of our community with an option for pet cremation where they felt compassion and understanding; one that could lend an ear or even a hug, and one where they could feel at ease in knowing their pets are cared for with honor.

Together, the team strives to provide first-rate private cremation care for the Central Oregon community. Both attentive and professional, everyone at Annie's is here for you during this difficult time.

Sunday Guitars

Sunday Guitars serves Central Oregon musicians of every age, genre and level — from hobbyists to pros.

Staff are friendly, knowledgeable and passionate musicians, ready to help each and every customer that walks into the store. Their goal is to make you feel welcomed, relaxed and supported, to help you find what you are looking for. They have a wide selection of everything musical — new and used guitars, amps, pianos, keyboards, ukuleles, harmonicas, mandolins, violins, banjos and banjoles. There are drum sets for kids and adults. You can find band instruments like trumpets, saxophones, horns, etc.

Inventory includes a variety of gear: guitar and bass strings, reeds, cords, cables and straps, cases and hardware.

Repairs can be done on just about all instruments. They buy, sell, consign and trade just about anything musical.

They also have an amazing rental program, supporting local schools and musicians — rent by the day, weekend, month or year.
