

LIBRARY ART:
Variety of media
on display in show

Continued from page 3

the towns that reside within them.”

Newton’s interest in photography began with a high school film class and resulted in her obtaining her Bachelor of Fine Arts in photography from the University of Oregon in 2014.

She has had numerous shows throughout Oregon, as well as in Texas and Finland. In 2015, she was selected to attend the Saari Artist Residency in Mynamaki, Finland, and in 2016 Newton was a resident at the PLAYA artist residency in Summer Lake, Oregon. She does her photography in a range of formats, from the plant-based emulsions of anthrotypes to modern digital color photography.

More of Newton’s work can be viewed on her website, www.ktnewton.com

Garzon Vargas’ work focuses on children and families around the world. The pieces currently on display in the library are large- and medium-format papercuts, a technique done by cutting from one continuous piece of paper where everything is connected and later paired with a contrasting underlay.

The portraits come from the documentary “Girls Rising,” which features girls overcoming challenges in order to pursue education in various regions of the globe. The large-format pieces were inspired by war photographer Jesus Abad Colorado and his images of families affected by the internal conflict in Columbia.

She said she loves children’s literature, is bilingual, and has written two bilingual children’s books. When she is not working at the library, making art, or reading, Garzon Vargas enjoys climbing, mountain biking, and playing with her dog, Luna.

To learn more about Garzon Vargas and her work, visit her website www.carlygarzonvargas.com or on Instagram: @carlygarzonvargas.

The entryway display cases hold the magical world of Kelley Salber’s imaginative miniatures, crafted from old books and boxes. Salber said that her propensity is toward three-dimensional work, so when she was introduced to the idea of the book as art, she found it fit her contemplative personality and her hands-on, “let’s build it” approach.

In addition to her miniature worlds, Salber also creates new blank journals out of old books, crafts her own books, as well as builds with book board and paper.

“I favor books as art for their portability and because books tend to lead toward deeper contemplation. People are represented in my work as miniature books because each one of us has a story and we are all a good read!” Salber said.

A native of Montana, Salber holds a Bachelor of Science degree from Montana State University and is a self-taught artist, with continuing education through classes and workshops as well as bookbinding and book building mentoring from Nebraska artist Rachel Fox.

“With these miniature bookcases, I combined a love of all things miniature and books. Each has a color theme and a message married to the humorous. These bookcases draw the observer to search for the message and contemplate it just like searching for titles on a bookshelf,” said Salber. “The bookcases are also available for commission. You provide the idea, a quote, a color scheme and I make your custom bookcase!”

In addition to her work with books as a sculptural form, Salber spent most of her life expressing herself through watercolor, collage, and found-object sculpture. Her work can be found at the Hood Avenue Art Gallery. She teaches the art of book-making in Sisters, as well as in Bend where she lives with her husband of over 30 years, Rich.

Recipient of the 2017 Theme Award from My Own Two Hands, Salber’s recent exhibits have included the Illahe Gallery in Ashland, the Bend Art Center, The Tiny Art Show at the Tbd Loft in Bend, and the Valley Art Gallery in Forest Grove.

For more information and to see more of Salber’s work, visit her website at www.kelleysalber.com.

PHOTO BY SUE STAFFORD

Kelley Salber creates miniature worlds using old books.

• Locally owned and operated
 • Large natural & organic selection
 • Meat cut & ground fresh daily
 • Huge bulk-foods department
 • Only 20 minutes from Sisters

FOOD 4 LESS

Located in the Cascade Village Shopping Center, Bend
 Open every day, 6 a.m. to 11 p.m.

Everybody’s making time to see Jeff this holiday!
The Hair Caché
 Jeff, Theresa, Ann, Jamie, Shiela, Terri, Shanntyl, Brittany
 152 E. Main • 541-549-8771

BASKETBALL:
Holiday tournament
set for weekend

Continued from page 5

smart, and play together, and we’re doing all three of those things right now. We still need to execute our offense better, and do a better job rebounding.”

Sisters was missing three key senior players: Taylor Scholl, who is coming off an injury, and Ty Horner and James Ceciliani, who will both be able to play in the Seaside Tournament.

The Outlaws will travel to Seaside for the Seaside Holiday Tournament, which will be held Thursday through Saturday, December 14-16.

PHOTO BY OUTLAWS PHOTOGRAPHY

Isaiah Rush dribbles into the key for two points against The Dalles.

Our agents are ready to meet your insurance needs
As life changes, so should your policy

 Call or come in today for a free Farmers Friendly Review 541-588-6245 • 257 S. Pine St., #101
www.farmersagent.com/jrybka
 AUTO • HOME • LIFE • BUSINESS

Enjoy the Holiday Season at
THE GALLERY
 RESTAURANT AND BAR

 Atlas Cider on Tap
SOUP OF THE DAY
 Dec. 13th - Dec. 19th
 Sat.....Minestrone
 Wed.....Black Bean Sun.....Cauliflower Swiss
 Thurs.....Chicken Barley Mon.....Navy Bean with Ham
 Fri Clam Chowder & Vegetable Tues.....Cream of Chicken
 Breakfast & lunch 6:30 a.m.-2:30 p.m.
 Full-service dining in the bar nightly until 10 p.m. (21 & over)
 171 W. Cascade Ave., Sisters • 541-549-2631