Annual Christmas parade got Sisters rockin'

— By Jodi Schneider, Correspondent —

Last year, it rained. The year before, there was snow. But Saturday’s sunny skies brought thousands of spectators to Hood Avenue for the annual Sisters Christmas Parade.

“This was a perfect day for the parade,” said spectator Terry Sanders of Redmond. “It’s nice to see familiar faces in the parade from prior years as well as new faces.”

This year’s theme, “Rockin’ Around the Christmas Tree,” was inspired by the classic Christmas song. Some say that Brenda Lee invented the idea of dancing around a Christmas tree with her classic Christmas song that was first released in 1958.

The annual parade was sponsored by the Sisters Area Chamber of Commerce and Hayden Homes. Jerri Buckmann, Sisters Area Chamber of Commerce events director, was moved by the spirit of the celebration.

“I love the parade. It isn’t a super long parade, just enough to get everyone in the moment,” she said. “The weather was perfect, and the participants were having a good time. I could not have asked for a better day.”

Mitch & Michelle Deaderick

For the past four decades, Mitch and Michelle Deaderick have been an integral part of Sisters’ ever-growing arts community. They not only create beautiful pottery work that graces homes across the country, they also nurture the arts and fellow artists in their community.

With Michelle’s artistic flair and Mitch’s experience, they create many unusual one-of-a-kind pieces. They also specialize in functional pieces to use throughout the home.

On December 1 and 2, they are inviting the community to visit their studio at 17192 Jordan Rd. from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. for a holiday show. Enjoy some appetizers with the artists while you shop for truly unique, handcrafted gifts.

Their work is also featured at Hood Avenue Art gallery at the corner of Hood Avenue and Pine Street, which has now been in operation for five years.

Modern Manners

Manners matter. Manners in a rude world! What seems to be lost in etiquette, kindness, and modesty in our modern world is actually “paramount of importance.”

To this end Karen Edwards, former Ms. Oregon/America, etiquette instructor, pageant coach and speaker, is now offering classes in our area. Edwards has had numerous success stories of former students who went on to model or hold pageant titles.

The Modern Manners Studio emphasis is on teaching poise and confidence; and classes in make-up, dating and social media etiquette, poise, personal grooming and good overall fashion sense.

A FREE introductory seminar is offered to teens and women to develop job interview skills and proper business attire.

Edwards is available as an instructor for home schools, career days and is often heard as a motivational speaker throughout the Northwest. For classes, seminars, a gift certificate or a brochure, call 541-719-0050 or contact at kareee@juno.com.
