Include your dog during the holiday season

— By Jodi Schneider, Correspondent —

Holiday time is here. You're decorating, shopping, entertaining, cooking, cleaning, party-going, and wrapping. During the season's craziness your furry family members tend to get ignored or over-stimulated.

Throughout the hustle and bustle of the holiday season, don't forget to share the happy spirit with your canine family member!

The holidays don't have to be consumed in worry and safety concerns for your dog. There are many ways to get your furry friend involved in the fun and put everyone in a festive mood.

Here are some creative ideas for making your dog a part of the holiday celebrations:

Picking out that special Christmas tree is a fun outdoor activity that can be even more memorable if you take your furry friend with you. Many tree farms and tree lots will allow you to take your dog provided he is on a leash.

The Christmas season brings a wealth of fun outdoor activities, from parades to outdoor markets to tree lighting ceremonies. These events will surely help warm up the experience for the both of you.

Keep your dog on the leash for these kinds of activities; it's safer for everyone.

Getting the dogs together for some indoor (or outdoor) fun and frolic is a favorite tradition for many. Ask some fellow dog friends about rotating a meetup each year to spread the holiday cheer.

Getting the annual Christmas photo can often be a chore to accomplish, but including your dog in the Christmas family photo can liven up this activity and turn it into an event. It may be so much fun that you may want to have his own individual Christmas photo made for special Christmas cards. Bringing Rover to Pet Photos with Santa at the Sisters Art Works building on December 1 can be fun for the whole family. Another excuse to dress your dog up in ugly holiday sweaters! Proceeds benefit Furry Friends Foundation, which provides critical support to families through a pet food bank and sponsorship assistance in getting spay and neutering services.

Christmas Eve or Christmas morning can be a fun time highlighted by unwrapping gifts to see what Santa brought. Allow your dog to join in on the fun. Pamper your pet with wrapped toys and take a moment to watch as he joyfully unwraps his gifts or pulls out his favorite treats from his Christmas stocking.

Does anything say "holidays" more than baking delicious treats?

Blazin Saddles

Blazin Saddles is a great place to put check-marks on your list next to the names of all the cyclists you're shopping for this holiday season. The knowledgeable staff is ready to be your personal shopper. Electric bikes are taking the country by storm, and Blazin Saddles is the place to shop to find just the right one to put under the tree — and make someone's year!

Blazin Saddles puts the joys of cycling in reach of all through a holiday season bike-donation program. Drop a bike donation off at the shop on the corner of Hood and Pine between 10 a.m. and 4 p.m. seven days a week until December 15. Blazin Saddles will get the bikes running safely and into the hands of a joyful Sisters resident. The bikes are of all sizes and not just for kids. Part of the idea of the program is to bring family cycling within reach of everyone in Sisters.

Call 541-719-1213 or email blazinsaddles@bendbroadband.com for more information.

The Porch

The Porch offers a comfortable homey setting with playful twists on comfort-food classics. The menu is inviting with such favorite dishes as Chicken and Waffles, Bacon-Wrapped Meatloaf, Cranberry BBQ Braised Ribs and vegetarian options like Sweet Potato Tacos and Veggie Golden Peanut Curry.

Chef Hosler and his crew always have something intriguing for weekly specials. This holiday season come join us for a dinner to remember.

Savor new winter menu items, sip seasonal cocktails from our full bar or enjoy a pint of draft beer or a glass of wine from our long list of options. Come in and see what everyone is talking about and put a little joy in your dining experience.

Reservations suggested. Holiday gift cards are always the right gift choice!
