Sisters Habitat prepares new thrift store building

Work is underway to transform the former Sisters Drug & Gift building into Sisters Habitat for Humanity's new Thrift Store. Habitat plans to move its thrift store business to the Cascade Avenue building by the end of March.

In October, Sisters Habitat purchased the iconic drug store building from Tim and Deanne Muir, who had owned the building since 1983. The Muirs operated a pharmacy at the location until 2008, when they sold the business to the Pill Box, a regional pharmacy.

At the end of May 2018, the pharmacy moved to its current location at Ray's Food Place.

Volunteer builders are busy preparing the new space, which will be more than twice as large as the existing thrift store on Main Avenue, Habitat reports. The original "Cooks Nook" area at the rear of the building will become the receiving and sorting room. An ADA-compliant restroom and changing rooms will be in the area where the pharmacy was located.

Local resident Linda Simmons and designer and builder Dave Clark are volunteering their time to coordinate the remodel.

"Without their help this project would be months away from completion. We are grateful to them and all the volunteers who are making this happen," said Sharlene Weed, executive director of Sisters Habitat.

"We are excited about this new location that will give us more space to process and sell gently used clothing, housewares, toys, books and collectibles," she added.

Sisters Habitat's ReStore, which sells building materials and home furnishings, will remain at its current Adams Avenue location. Some items currently at the ReStore, artwork, crafts and office supplies, will move to the new store location.

Profits from Habitat's two retail stores contribute nearly 60 percent of the funds Habitat uses to build three affordable new homes annually in Sisters Country.
