Ann Richardson hugs Katy Yoder, who helped organize a surprise appreciation party on Thursday.

• Pete Rathbun wrote:
 “Thank you to the 150 or so people who attended the surprise party thrown for Ann Richardson last Thursday at FivePine. Not to mention the dozen or so super-heroes that set it up; you know who you are.

She was blown away. Who knew so many people in this small town could keep a secret for three whole weeks?

I can’t speak for Ann, but I know for a fact that Sisters Folk Festival (SFF) wouldn’t be where it is today without Ann and all of you (plus another few hundred volunteers).

In my years at SFF I’ve learned that if you start calling out individuals or organizations by name you’re bound to miss somebody, but you all know who I’m talking to. I’m forever grateful to have gotten to know and work with all of you. Thank you for making the job not only so much easier, but a lot of fun.

I sincerely wish the best for the organization going forward.

• Cal Allen and Carol Packard wrote: The Science Fair was a fine event and was made possible by the many contributions from the Sisters community. Our thanks to the Sisters School District for making the high school available and especially to the teachers and students who spent time developing the interesting exhibits.

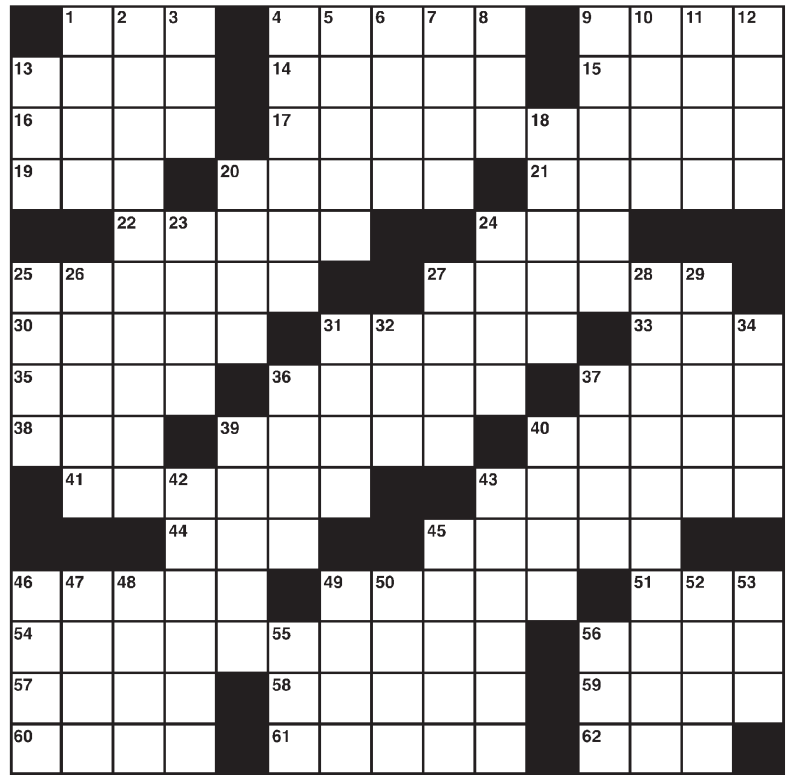

Thanks to Kiwanis Foundation, our financial sponsor for the event, and to those Kiwanis members who volunteered to help set up and run it. A round of applause for our outside exhibitors for exhibits that enhanced the science we wanted to display.

Finally, thank you to the Science Club volunteers, parents and other citizens of Sisters for contributing your time and energy to make this event a success.

ROAD RAGE: No one was hurt in incident on Highway 20

Nobody in the reporting person’s car was struck by gunfire. The reporting person advised they were still following the suspect. The reporting person then said that the suspect had turned onto Central Avenue east of Sisters. The reporting person parked near the intersection of Central Avenue and Highway 20 to await contact from sheriff’s office personnel.

At approximately 7:13 p.m., a deputy with the Deschutes County Sheriff’s Office spotted the suspect vehicle parked in the middle of Fryrear Road near Cascade Estates Drive. That deputy requested additional units, and law enforcement officers initiated a high-risk vehicle stop. The suspect, Joseph Wade Taft, 31, of Bend, was eventually taken into custody. The suspect was transported to St. Charles Medical Center for evaluation, and then to the Deschutes County Jail and lodged on multiple charges, including DUII; reckless driving; reckless endangerment; criminal mischief; hit and run (property damage); unlawful use of a weapon; menacing; resisting arrest; and interfering with a police officer.

There were no injuries to the victim, suspect, or law-enforcement officers during this incident. The Deschutes County Sheriff’s Office was assisted at the scene by the Bend Police Department, Redmond Police Department, Oregon State Police, and the Cloverdale Fire District. The investigation is ongoing.
