Girls tennis packs in three matches

The girls tennis team packed in three matches this past week. They started with a 7-1 loss to Cascade on Monday, April 22, and came back to post a 6-2 win over Corbett two days later. On Thursday, they traveled to Estacada and defeated the Rangers 8-0.

Monday's match against Cascade was a makeup match. The Outlaws' lone win was at No. 3 doubles, where Mattie Mynatt and Alexa Asson had their best match of the season. The duo stepped up with aggressive net play and good ball placements on their shots to post the 6-3, 3-6, 6-2 victory over Bailey Pederson and Natalie Federico.

Sisters posted a 6-2 win over Corbett, who only had six varsity players in attendance. The Outlaws took most of the matches via forfeit, but did get a nice win at No. 1 doubles. Kendra Sitz and Hallie Schwartz beat Emily Rhuman and Bella Dentler 6-0, 6-0. Kendra and Hallie are both playing strong, and hope to do well at Districts next week.

On Thursday, Estacada was in a similar situation with just a few players able to compete. It was a short match, and the Outlaws recorded an easy win.

Ramsey Schar (No. 1 singles) posted a perfect 6-0, 6-0, win over Lizabeth Garcia. Coach Alan VonStein told The Nugget that Ramsey is continuing to develop her dynamic play and is working on being more aggressive at the net and at hitting volley shots.

Of her match, Ramsey said, "I had a lot of power in my serves, and got lots of points off first serves. I was able to come up to the net, and I hit overhands to open spaces and got points there, too."

Holly Wertz (No. 2) hit fabulous ground strokes and serves, and dominated play in her 6-1, 6-1, win over Noemi Castrejon.

Hannah Ezell (No. 3) and Emma Horner (No. 4) won their pro-sets, 8-0, 8-3, respectively. Both players have proved they are able to play at doubles and also in the singles slot.

Kendra Sitz and Hallie Schwartz (No. 1 doubles) played a close first set against Cindy Ucan and Jocelyn Cortez and took it to a 6-6 tie, before winning 7-2 in the tie-break. The combo dominated the second set and won 6-1. Both girls are very athletic, and work well at covering the court. VonStein told The Nugget he's looking forward to seeing how far the pair will go at the District Tournament.

Molly Winter and Lauren Fitzke played together for the first time, and posted a 6-4, 6-3, win over Marissa Clements and Victoria Marcs. Sisters won at No. 3 and No. 4 doubles via forfeit.

VonStein commented on his team and the upcoming district tournament.

"We have had some recent challenges with injury, and losing some players who did not make class grades," said VonStein. "That being said, the other girls have stepped up tremendously to fill those roles. All the girls are making good progress in their game strategy. As we approach Districts I am optimistic that the kids will shine and play their hearts out. This is a very nice group of young women of whom I am proud and honored to be affiliated. They represent the mantra 'Outlaws Together.'"

The Outlaws were to play at home on Monday, April 29, in their final league match of the season against Madras. The first round of Districts will be Thursday, May 2, at Estacada, and the second round will be held on Monday, May 6, at Black Butte Ranch.
