The Quilt Show runs from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. on Saturday, July 13, all through downtown Sisters.

This year's poster, created by Sisters artist Kathy Deggendorfer, hails the theme of "Bountiful Living."

During the first two weeks of July, the Quilt Walk features quilts made by talented Central Oregon quilters. More than 100 quilts go on display in businesses that sponsor the show as a thank-you to them for their support. Many of those quilts are for sale.

Quilter's Affair, a series of classes sponsored by the world-renowned quilt shop The Stitchin' Post, runs Monday-Friday of quilt week (July 8-12) prior to the annual Quilt Show.

A special event set for July 10 is a Celebrity Sew-down, featuring a friendly competition between two talented teams of sewers: Team Tula Pink vs. Team Rob Appell. See who can finish a quilt-top first under the time limit. How does each team approach the design, delegate tasks, and work collaboratively for the win!

On Sunday, July 14, visit the FivePine campus at the east end of town for a stunning outdoor display and quilting lecture by Carolyn Friedlander.

The show's special events sell out early, so get your tickets now.

Many visitors enhance their experience of the Quilt Show by helping to put it on. A complete listing of volunteer jobs and online signup is available at sistersoutdoorquiltshow.org/volunteer-info. Prior quilting knowledge or experience is not a requirement.
