

Stewardship group plans cleanup

Recreational target-shooters are gathering on Saturday, August 24, for a stewardship cleanup of the popular Zimmerman Butte shooting area about five miles west of Sisters.

The group, Trash No Land out of Washington, is organizing the cleanup with the support of the U.S. Forest Service and sponsorship from a variety of outdoor-oriented businesses, including Sisters Meat and Smokehouse and The Fly Fisher's Place in Sisters and Sportsman's Warehouse and Trigger Happy Guns in Bend. Sisters Les Schwab will recycle any used tires found on the site.

Event coordinator Bill Cogley told The Nugget that the cleanup is receiving "great community support — we just need the volunteers. I am really hoping to get as many responsible target-shooters as possible."

Cogley said that, in addition to cleaning up trash and litter that tends to accumulate in shooting areas, the event is geared toward promoting an ethic of stewardship among responsible sportsmen.

Zimmerman Butte lies west of Sisters on Forest Road 500 off of Highway 20. There will be a 9 a.m. safety briefing and discussion about current recreation activities, fire prevention measures and safety in recreation. Several businesses have donated prizes for a raffle that will be held along with a free barbecue lunch at noon.

Participants are asked to bring potluck salad or side dish, outdoor clothing, boots, gloves, rakes, magnet and manual pickers and, Cogley says, "a steward's heart." Pickup trucks would be helpful.
