Division a nationally and internationally known group. He was a friend and a mentor to generations of artists, including McPhee, White, and others within NWSSA, who are now mentors to a new generation entering the enchantment of this age-old art form.

"I mentor anyone who comes my way," McPhee said, "and I find that I learn so much from the people I mentor. I receive far more than I give."

One of her mentees at Suttle Lake was Jason Christina.

GRANTS: Funds support activities beneficial to community consideration. The amounts recommended for each group are then added together and an average figure is determined to be their award.

Community grants may not be used for travel, budget deficits, or for routine operating expenses, a provision that eliminated one of this year's requests from consideration. Community entities and organizations that serve the Sisters community, but are not designated non-profits, must meet at least one of several criteria: provide assistance for essential utilities, food, medical needs, clothing, or shelter; provide educational or recreational opportunities for children or seniors; or generate/support economic activity in Sisters.

Factors considered when evaluating the grant requests include: the requesting organization's history of success; the organizational and financial stability of the group; the number and types of community members served; and the ability to measure and track the effectiveness of the project or service.

Each year, when the City's annual budget is determined, the City Budget Committee sets an amount targeted for community assistance grants. The City Council approves the budget. The amount available for grant awards is contingent on the Council's approval of the budget and appropriation of funds for community grants.

Upon completion of an organization's project or fiscal year, a letter must be sent to the City of Sisters detailing how the funds were used.

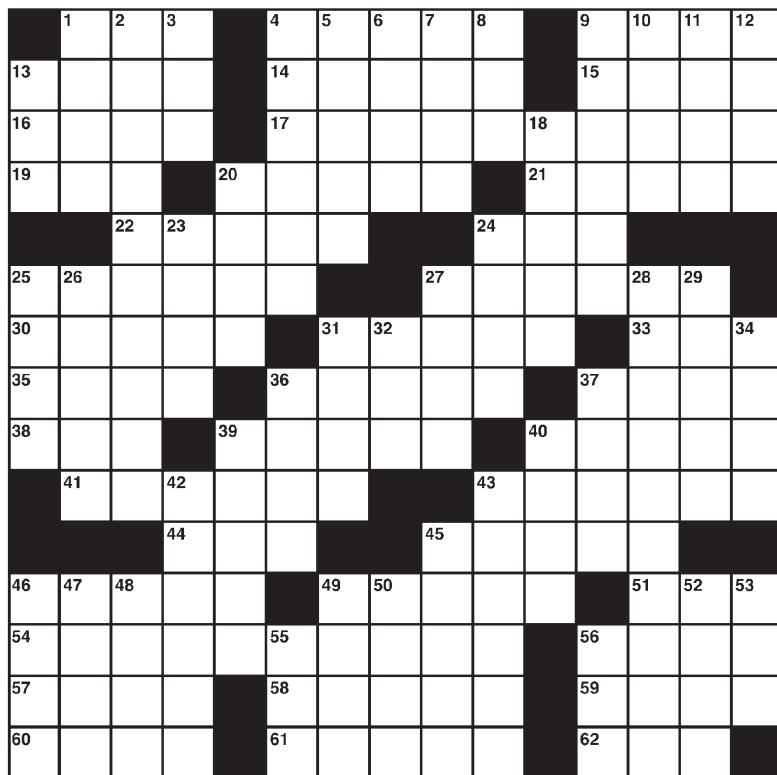

This year's recipients of the City's Community Support Grants include:
