

At Your Service...

Folks love living in Sisters because of its small-town charm. But living in a small town doesn't mean you have to sacrifice big-time service. Sisters is full of quality, professional people operating all sorts of businesses that help enhance the quality of your life in Sisters Country.

Your local businesses are owned and operated by your friends and neighbors. They gear their products and services to OUR needs and interests.

Find your dream home and the décor to fill it. Make that home and all who are in it healthy and happy. Find some inner peace or head off on an adventure.

The seasons have turned, and winter looms on our horizon. Make sure that you – and your home and your property – weather it in comfort and safety by availing yourself of the range of services local providers offer.

Spending your dollars locally ensures that the community itself stays healthy. Each dollar you spend circulates approximately seven times in the Sisters economy. Local business-owners care about their hometown – they support the schools, employ local folks and help keep the community vibrant.

And when the quality is this good and the service is this neighborly, there's no reason to look anywhere else!

Grocery Outlet

On Third Avenue in Bend is a hidden treasure trove of extraordinary values on wine.

Grocery Outlet leverages targeted buying to access closeouts, second labels, private labels and the end of specific vintages to provide top-quality wines at extraordinary prices for the savvy customer.

Level 1 Sommelier Corey Arballo hosts "5 at 4" tastings at the store each Friday from 4 to 7 p.m. Customers may sample five wines – usually two reds, two whites and a sparkling wine. Arballo also offers pairings with a variety of foods – some surprising and all of them exceptional.

Grocery Outlet is a family-owned and -operated grocery, a welcoming and friendly "mom-and-pop" store. Billy Muzio and his wife are enthusiastic about quality organic foods and they have stocked Grocery Outlet with organics in all categories. Shoppers will find organic meats, dry goods, produce and deli items – all at Grocery Outlet's typical budget-friendly pricing.
