At Your Service...

Sisters' small business community is coming out of lockdown more ready than ever to serve the customers and the community where they strive to thrive.

The travails and turmoil of recent months has reinforced the value and importance of a strong, resilient local economy. Spending your dollars locally ensures that the community itself stays healthy and robust. Each dollar you spend circulates again and again through the Sisters all of Economy. Local business-owners care about their hometown — they support the schools, employ local folks and help keep the community vibrant.

Sisters is full of quality, professional people operating all sorts of businesses that help enhance the quality of our life in Sisters Country. Spring is the season to improve and enhance our homes and landscape, and Sisters businesses offer the products and expertise to get those jobs done right. Other businesses help us take care of ourselves — another endeavor that has taken on a new urgency in these times.

Sisters businesses are invested in their hometown — and when the quality of their products and their work is this good and their service is this neighborly, there's no reason to look anywhere else!
