CATELL: Reality show focuses on hard-working Americans

proving yourself and taking a leadership role is huge," she said.

"Because of what I do for a living as a female in risky situations as well, I keep both safety and the paycheck within reach, and I look forward to people seeing what I do," she said.

The show has already been filmed, finishing in February.

Cattell says she owes all of her success and passion for fishing to her Dad.

"He's my biggest supporter," she said.

"In the Pacific Northwest, people love their seafood and we work hard to deliver the highest quality and it has always been in my family to work hard," she said.

As stated by CBS, "Tough as Nails is a competition series that celebrates everyday Americans who roll up their sleeves and don't think twice about working long hard hours and getting their hands dirty, in order to keep their country running... Competitors will be challenged at real-world job sites competing in teams and against each other to win..."

The series is from Emmy Award-winning producer Phil Keoghan ("The Amazing Race") and his producing partner, Louise Keoghan.

Tough As Nails premieres on CBS Wednesday, July 8, at 8/7c. More information on the series and on Cattell and the rest of the cast can be found at <https://www.cbs.com/shows/tough-as-nails/cast/>.

"Ross was everything I hoped for in an agent: professional, courteous, friendly, knowledgeable, caring and supportive. On top of that, he already had clients searching for a home like mine. He put us together and I received an excellent offer less than a week after our first conversation. Never has selling a home been as easy. Always just a phone call, text or email away, Ross made every step of the process simple."
