

'Foreigners' Wanted!

THE PEOPLE of foreign birth in America, coming here from Protestant countries in Europe, who are now being solicited by would-be benefactors of native birth and urged to "join" a new secret society of bright colored robes and mystic regalia, should consult a good American, not an advocate of the order, before taking the step.

The paternal order of this new organization for the Protestants of foreign birth, is one, however, claiming "America for Americans of native birth," with the proviso that they must be white and neither Catholic or Jew, but willing to be "educated" to become very intolerant against both and willing to carry out the mandates of their rulers and ask no questions in the light of reason and common sense.

The contrast is too glaring to permit of any foreign born becoming ensnared who is accustomed to think for himself. Only those who have been accustomed in the old world to let others do their thinking and ruling for them, are gullible enough to depart with the ten pieces of silver, the size of an American dollar, that they are being asked by the solicitor to dig up for the "privilege and the honor" of becoming members in this subsidiary institution created by the benign grace of its paternal source.

There is no genuine fibre of Americanization in this new order any more than in its source. Humility, tolerance, love of fellowmen, thinking good rather than evil, are seemingly forgotten in the creeds of these new and modern groups of sectionalization holding unto themselves, and whose prime object is warring and vieing with all other groups for power and control.

Secret societies will never patent the true gospel of America. They may have some of it, but all of it is only to be found out in the open, where, thank God, there is no monopoly on the creed of good citizenship, where the urge is not to hate but to love all who love America whatever their religion, race or nationality may be.
