Nuclear War: Incurable Disease

On Sunday, October 17 at 1:00 in the afternoon, KOAC (Channel 7, Cable 7) will carry an hour-long special entitled Nuclear War: Incurable Disease. What's unusual about this program is that it was seen by an estimated one hundred million Soviet citizens when it was shown on official Soviet National TV on June 24, 1982. Featuring an uncensored and essentially non-edited discussion of the medical consequences of nuclear war by 3 American doctors and 3 Soviet doctors, the program will show us what the Soviet people are being told about nuclear war in their country.

The American doctors are Dr. Bernard Lown, Dr. James Muller, and Dr. John Pastore; the Russian physicians are Dr. M. A. Ilyin, Dr. M. I. Kuzin, and Dr. Eugene Chazov, who is President Brezhnev's personal physician. Following the doctors' discussion Hodding Carter, State Department spokesperson under President Carter, Ann Garrels, former ABC Moscow correspondent, and Stuart Loorey, Managing Editor of Cable Network News will continue with discussion and commentary.

Don't miss this opportunity to see for yourself what may be the Russian point of view regarding a U.S.-Soviet nuclear weapons freeze.
