We Couldn't Do It Without You!

Many different people lend their time and energy each week to make What's Happening happen! One of these people is Billie Duncan who came to us through RSPV (Retired Senior Volunteer Program). Billie comes in once a week and creates order out of chaos. She files, sorts, does some posting, and generally applies her years of office experience to our fledgling business. Billie is a newcomer to Eugene. She and her husband moved here from Wisconsin (they like the climate here!), after raising 5 kids—all of whom are grown now and spread around the country. Billie seems to be a natural Eugenean: she walks to work, and she's interested in the community. That's why she volunteered to work for us! She is also currently working for the Great Eugene Giveaway, collecting items for their upcoming sale to benefit small businesses and create jobs in this area.

Bettencourt, Jack Craig, and many others; and special thanks to our friends Lois Wadsworth, Susan O'Keefe, and Nick Sally who helped get this ball rolling in the beginning.

There's more: Connie at ProtoType, our extraordinary typesetter and friend; Harvey and Cyd at Eugene Copy Center, the folks who take in classifieds and calendar listings for us, and also help out with copying, printing, and moral support; the folks at Kinko's and Red Barn Groceries, our other two calendar listing drop spots; Wanda, Steve and Vicky at the Production Department, for top quality help with photos and graphics; Diane and Al at the Springfield News where we print What's Happening each week; and Shirley at Gallagher, Gleason & Raven for accounting and business planning assistance.

This list does not include the many, many individuals and organizations who send in calendar listings, photos, press releases, and other materials for us to share with our readers, nor does it include our advertisers whose support is invaluable and much appreciated by all of us. What's Happening is the product of an active and supportive community. It really wouldn't happen without you!

Two other helpers came to us through the Lane Community College Cooperative Work Experience program, in which students earn credits for work in the community. Jean Curry, from the Graphics Design Department, spent last term with us doing ad design and lay-out. She found the hands-on experience to be quite valuable, and preferable to taking a similar course. Coming from a fine arts background, Jean enrolled at LCC to make her artistic talents "more marketable." She feels that her experience with WH will help her to get a job, providing her with actual work experience and a good reference for her resume. Jean has recently begun working on an ad and marketing campaign with a friend who makes stuffed animals ("Murphy Bears") while she finishes up at Lane.

Sheri Longobardo is the other LCC student working with us. Sheri is studying bookkeeping and accounting and has signed up for a second term with WH. Although Sheri would rather be training horses, we're glad she's doing what she's doing. She balanced the ledger (no small task!) and helped refine our bookkeeping and accounting procedures.

If you are a student at LCC or the U of O and would like to work with What's Happening, please call and talk to us about it. We need people in several different areas: lay-out and design, copy writing and editing, word processing (on an Apple //e), general office and reception, community outreach, etc. This invitation extends to non-students as well. Call 484-0519 for more details.

There are many more people deserving mention for their contributions: our faithful distributors Warren Millington, Pamela Seaworthy, and John McCaffrey of Oregon Coast Line (he takes WH to the coast each week!); our dynamic ad sales team Martha Wagner and Jack Craig; production assistant Cathy Getta of Getta Graphics; photographer Michael Williams; Patience & Sarah author Jan Eliot; and contributing writers Pamela Seaworthy, Larry Deckman, Cathy Sarkowsky, Bill Blackburn, Lily
