Elisabeth Cotton will be at the CCPA (WOW Hall) with Mike Seeger on Saturday, October 15th.

Elisabeth Cotton and Mike Seeger at the WOW Hall Together

Elisabeth Cotton was born in 1893 in Chapel Hill, North Carolina. When she was nine she worked to earn money for her own guitar. By age 11 she wrote Freight Train, a song that just about every folk singer now has as part of her/his repertoire. She and her brothers and sister played and sang music together and each would make up songs to call their own. At age 15 she was married, found work, and put her guitar away. It was half a century before she returned to it. By coincidence, she met Ruth Seeger and her husband Charles, a noted folk scholar. She took a job in their home and it was the Seeger children, Mike and Peggy, who discovered "Libba's" musical gifts and encouraged her to perform in concert. She thus began a new career in her mid-sixties accompanying Mike Seeger and the New Lost City Ramblers to the coffee houses and folk festivals that blossomed around the country in the late fifties. Mike Seeger has been the leading performer-collector of rural southeastern traditional music and is known both as a soloist and a founding member of the vanguard old-time string band, the New Lost City Ramblers. His music is the homemade folk or traditional music of mountain farmers, mill workers and coal miners of the rural southeast. His songs range from unaccompanied English ballads to mountain breakdowns, blues and early American rural songs. He plays fiddle, banjo, guitar, dulcimer, mandolin, autoharp, jews harp, pan pipes and harmonica. He and Elisabeth Cotton will perform at the CCPA (WOW Hall) on Saturday, October 15 at 8:30 p.m. Tickets are $5 in advance, $6 day of show. Tickets are available at the WOW Hall, EMU Main Desk (UO), Balladeer Music, and the House of Records.

Chamber Music Series Opens

The Concord String Quartet will open the 1983-84 University of Oregon Chamber Music Series on Saturday, Oct. 15. This American chamber ensemble will perform at 8 pm in Beall Concert Hall. The program includes Haydn's Quartet in G Major, Op. 33, No. 5, Robert Hall Lewis' Quartet No. 3 and Beethoven's Quartet in F, Op. 135. Members of the Concord String Quartet are violinists Mark Sokol and Andrew Jennings, violist John Kochanowski and cellist Norman Fischer. The Concord String Quartet began its career in 1971 with the receipt of the Walter W. Naumburg Chamber Music Award. In 1977 the ensemble was awarded an Emmy for its Public Broadcasting System telecast, "The Concord String Quartet Plays Bartok and Haydn." Season tickets for the Chamber Music Series are still on sale for $38 and $24, depending on seat location. The series includes six other chamber concerts. There is a 20% discount for UO students. Single ticket sales will begin the evening of the concert. Single tickets may be purchased at the Beall Concert Hall Box Office for $6 and $4. For more information call 686-5678.

Singer/Harpist Mary O'Hara at Hult

On Thursday, Oct. 20, classical folk singer/harpist Mary O'Hara will appear for the first time in Oregon. Curtain time in the Hult Center's Soreng Theatre is 7:30 pm. Having recently returned from a sensational tour of Australia with sold-out performances in the Sydney Opera House and the new Melbourne Concert Hall, Miss O'Hara's Hult Center performance will mark the end of a two-month North American tour which reached from Vancouver, British Columbia to San Francisco.

Considered one of the world's most enchanting classical folk singers, Miss O'Hara is renowned for the purity and clarity of her voice and for the warmth of her personality. Earlier this year she recorded her latest album (a digital recording), Mary O'Hara at Carnegie Hall. The album includes songs from the last five centuries in English, Gaelic and Scots Gaelic. Her book, A Song for Ireland, has been at the top of the bestseller lists in the United Kingdom and in Australia and provides the reader with stories and beautiful pictures of Ireland.

Immediately prior to her North American concert tour, Miss O'Hara was busy putting together thirteen programs for her own television series which will be aired this fall. Ticket prices for this special evening with Mary O'Hara are $10.50 and $8.50. For more information about this performance, call 687-5000 or visit your local ticket outlet.

Dan Siegel Band Farewell to Eugene Concert

Dan Siegel and his band play their farewell performance on Oct. 15 in the Soreng Theater/Hult Center.

The Dan Siegel Band will give a farewell Eugene concert on Saturday, October 15, in the Hult Center's Soreng Theatre. Tickets are $5.50 in advance, $6.50 day of the show. Curtain time is 8:30 p.m.

Siegel, a graduate in composition from the University of Oregon, studied one year in Boston while at the Berklee College of Music. All five of his records have reached the number one position on the charts for jazz airplay across the country, and the last four have all reached the top fifty in sales. His most recent record, "Reflections," was released in Japan and is reportedly doing well.

Siegel's five-piece band, fresh off an American tour, will share the concert with the Don Latarski Trio. Siegel is leaving Eugene to pursue a more active career in the recording industry.

Tickets and information are available by calling (503) 687-5000 or by visiting one of the Hult Center's twenty-two Oregon ticket outlets.
