Sweetgrass Performs Dec. 8

Sweetgrass is an "eclectic a cappella" women's quartet. They perform contemporary women's music, madrigals, classical, barbershop, folk and music of other lands. They have been together about four years and have sung at many fairs and festivals including the Oregon Country Fair and the Willamette Valley Folk Festival. It really is a pleasure to hear such pure and melodic voices without accompaniment, a rare treat in these days when voices often take a backseat to instruments. These ladies take their name from the native aromatic grass grown on the high plains, burned ritually for incense and symbolizing the earth and the mother.

They can be heard at the Artists Union Gallery, 985 Willamette St., at 8 p.m. on Dec. 8. The cost is $2. Light refreshments will be served.

The Vermeest String Quartet will perform at 8 p.m., Saturday, Dec. 3 at Beall Concert Hall, UO campus.
