BUSINESS BRIEFS

Children's Books

The Secret Garden, a lovely children's bookstore, has moved to 2650 Willamette Street. Their new location provides more space and parking—so they're more accessible. An expanded inventory includes the best in children's literature from books for infants to young adults—with special sections on parenting, multi-cultural literature and sensitive subjects.

Owner Nancy Mulhorn has a special love of children's books and is happy to order books for her customers. Children are welcome guests at the Secret Garden; a sunny play area is provided for them at the front of the store.

The Secret Garden shares building space with Touch of Class Clothing, a quality resale clothing store for children and adults.

After Divorce

Divorce, unlike birth, marriage and death, is a major life change that has no rituals, grief system or social process to ease the pain and give form to the future. Starting Over After Divorce is a 10-week seminar developed to help people through this disruptive and confusing adjustment. Facilitated by counselors who have personally experienced the pain and disappointment of divorce, Starting Over After Divorce provides a safe and open environment where divorced persons can gain skills and understanding to get their lives back on track.

Karen Likens and Joe Eaton are professionally trained and have jointly taught classes on divorce through Lane Community College for over three years. Space is still available for the seminar beginning April 3. Call Karen Likens, 485-6329, for further information and reservations.
