MAKING Music

The Eugene Concert Choir, in their Tenth Season Celebration, presents the Northwest premiere of Stravinsky's The Wedding, the only piece ever written to combine choir, ballet, percussion ensemble and four grand pianos — all on stage at once.

The evening of great choral works also features Beethoven's Song of Sacrifice and pianist Dean Kramer in Choral Fantasy.

Music Beat

Taj Mahal and Toto, Too

by Jim Stiak

Master of guitar, banjo, piano, dulcimer, vibes, mandolin and organic farming, Taj Mahal learned something more on his 1979 tour of Africa. "The African musicians still understand things forgotten by a lot of Americans," he says. "They know how to project themselves through the instruments without the big volume of electronic amplification."

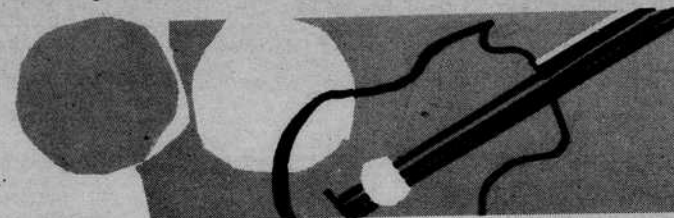

On May 3 this 20-year, 12-album veteran "music scholar" brings his own projection, his big gambler's hat and gravelly sweet voice, ringing hammer guitar and honky-tonk piano, his charisma and unsurpassed entertainment to the WOW Hall.

The following night at the WOW, it's a celebration and a benefit. For the Cinco de Mayo, the day that commemorates when Mexico liberated itself from the ball and chain of colonialism, an evening of R&B, Rock & Roll and New Wave is planned. Back from Texas, and a lot of touring across the western states, are the Sneakers. Paul Burnett and Texas Soul and New Wave Rockers Film at Eleven will also perform. The event's proceeds will be split 1983, they took a couple years off. The band regrouped for their current album and tour, and wrote the music for the movie "Dune." They'll continue trying to "shed their faceless image" May 4 at the Hult.

Playing at the Black Forest May 3 and 4 will be the uniquely unclassifiable music of Ron Lloyd. This will be a bit of a reunion, as Ron returns to one of the places among five organizations: Food for Lane County, Family Shelter, Oxfam America, H.O.P.E. and Public Health International.

That event will be competing against Dorothy's dog. Yes, Auntie Em, Toto, too will be in town. This is a group of ex-sessionmen who've played on "probably 500 albums" by various Big Names. After sweeping the Grammys in from which he launched his career.

A birthday party for Genesis Juice—who, with the demise of Apple Kate's, is the only game in town—will be held at the Wesley Center May 3. A variety of talents will supply the entertainment.

Every Saturday, the Fall Creek Bakery, along with seductive pastries and potent espresso, presents classical duets. Lise Jaffe on flute and Alan Tarpinian on guitar, noon 'til two.

Beall Concert Hall, on the U of O campus, features classical timpanist and percussionist Charles Dowd on May 8. Performing with four other musicians, Dowd will give a world premiere reading of Three Inventions for Solo Timpani by George Barati, along with works by Bela Bartok, William Kraft and Elliott Carter.
