ARTS

Friederich Hundertwasser's works are featured again at Argus Fine Arts Corporation Gallery (Original Graphics), 122 E. Broadway, Eugene.

World Famous Artist Hundertwasser, Summer of '85

by Jack Craig

One of the world's greatest living painters will again have a major exhibit of his work on display in Eugene this summer. The artist is Friederich Hundertwasser and his paintings and prints can be seen at the Argus Fine Arts Corporation Gallery at 122 E. Broadway. The exhibit by Argus is a return engagement with "Hundertwasser, Summer of '85" to be on display through September 15, 1985.

The artist's work showing at Argus (Original Graphics) has to be seen close-up to be appreciated. His block prints, some with inlaid foil, incorporate many other special features; copies of many beautifully made, numbered prints are available.

Hundertwasser is recognized internationally as being in the tradition of the great master painters of all time. He is the only living painter to have his work at the Albertina Museum in Vienna. He is also the only western painter whom master wood carvers of Japan would work with on block prints. His design was the first chosen by the Austrian government to initiate a project of commissioned artists to design postage stamps.

Hundertwasser's prints are described as sensuous, vegetative, colorful. The color dazzles the viewer at first but getting closer, the form and subject matter are equally as powerful. Forms within the prints are human-oriented yet abstract. A person can be visualized, is always there in faces, heads, eyes, bodies or buildings that are humanized.

The spiral is also one of the basic forms of the artist's work.

This fabulous show of Hundertwasser includes the artist's astounding Regentag Portfolio of 10 pieces, five pieces of the Midori: No Namida and Green Power as well as Meadowman. In all, there are more than 35 different Hundertwasser images as well as his books, posters, and prints to be seen in the downtown Eugene gallery.

Viewing hours (no admission charged) at the Argus Gallery, 122 E. Broadway, Eugene, are from 11 am-5:30 pm, Tuesday through Saturday. Information about the Argus exhibit can be obtained by telephoning 344-5580, including reservations for special showings.

Last year, What's Happening featured a Hundertwasser print on its August 2-15 cover. Small postcard size prints of the artist's works are also available at Argus at a nominal price.

The Tundra is a painting by Morten Solberg. He will be at Soaring Wings Gallery Thursday, August 8 to sign his works. The public is invited between 4-8 pm.

Morten Solberg Visits Eugene

Morten Solberg is a very special kind of wildlife artist. His works are a unique mix of precision and abstraction. His animals look so real they could be photographs. However, the landscapes surrounding them are surreal, flowing, more out of his own perception than reality.

Solberg has, in fact, been a photographer during his long career. It did help him focus on shapes and designs, he says.

His work is in many permanent art collections and he has had numerous exhibitions and received quite a few awards.

Soaring Wings Art Gallery is featuring works by Morten Solberg. The artist will be here on Thursday, August 8 for a reception at the Gallery. It will last from 4-8 pm and the public is invited.
