Taste the Surata Difference!

★ FRESH—made in Eugene. Surata's freshness has a sweet and subtle flavor. When tofu is not freshly made it will taste sour. You can taste the difference!

★ SMOOTH TEXTURE—smoothness means Surata tofu is easy to slice, and it retains its shape while steaming, baking, stir-frying, broiling—any way you cook it.

★ TWO STYLES—
• Firm tofu—great for soups, casseroles & stir-fry dishes
• Soft tofu—perfect for dips, dressings and desserts

★★★ Look for our label and ★★★ taste the Surata difference!

COMMUNITY

Skinner City Cloggers join
Country Dance for S.O.S.

by Neva Hassanein and Diane Sontag

bodhran. Callers Rich Fobes and Diane Sontag will guide your feet with ease through circle, square and contra (line) dances. Each dance will be patiently taught; you need no previous experience. No partner is necessary, and all ages are welcome.

Dance basics will be taught at 8 pm, and dancing begins at 8:30 pm at Kelly Middle School, 850 Howard Avenue (off River Road). To protect the gymnasium floor, no street shoes, please. Delicious refreshments will be available. Admission is $4, and proceeds will benefit SOS's educational project for local wetlands protection.

SOS is a local non-profit organization dedicated to creating an increased knowledge and concern about preserving the ecosystems which sustain us. One of the most important ecosystems in the world is wetlands, which includes swamps, marshes, bogs, and other wet environments. Only recently have we begun to recognize wetlands as both essential and endangered.

Wetlands are sites that have shallow water or saturated soil, accumulate plant organic materials that decompose slowly, and support a variety of plants and animals adapted to the wet conditions. Wetlands are transitional zones where land and water interface; they are extremely diverse and productive ecosystems.

Wetlands serve many significant ecological functions. A wide variety of wildlife species depend on wetlands for feeding, nesting and breeding habitats. About one third of all plants and animals on the federal endangered or threatened species lists depend on wetlands for survival. Wetlands also function to control erosion and sediment and to store floodwaters.

With the growth of urban areas, wetlands have become increasingly important for their capacity to improve water quality and protect water supply. They provide unique educational and recreational opportunities and are aesthetically pleasing.

These precious ecosystems are disappearing at an alarming rate of 400,000 to 600,000 acres per year. Over half of the original wetlands in the United States have been lost. As we drain, ditch, and fill wetlands we threaten both wildlife and water.

Locally, we contribute to the global and national decline of wetlands, because neither the city of Eugene nor Lane County has established a comprehensive management program. Local wetland areas are being rapidly threatened and destroyed by inadequate protection. SOS has been working with local government to encourage protection of areas such as the Bertelson Slough and Valley River Wetlands.

If you would like to get involved in efforts to protect local wetlands, or to gain further information, please contact SOS at 541 Willamette, Suite 102, in Eugene, or call 484-2679, between 10 am-6 pm. See you at the dance!

The Skinner City Cloggers will be special guest performers at a benefit country dance for Save Our ecoSystems, inc. (SOS) this Saturday, Feb. 21. The Cloggers are well known for their high-spirited, energetic dancing; your toes will start a' tappin' as their feet hammer out a lively rhythm.

Besides the performance, plenty of high-steppin' dance tunes will be provided by Chico Schwall on mandolin, Sam Jones on piano, Jerry Berger on fiddle, Spence Hollinger on guitar, Ambo on banjo, Deborah Moskowitz on hammer dulcimer, Mark Danielson on concertina, and Jan Reed on
