

which all space is open to him. He is like a ship in a river. He runs against obstructions on every side but one. On that side all obstruction is taken away and he sweeps serenely over a deepening channel into an infinite sea." Find out what that mission is, and, having found it, throw into it all the energy of your being for its accomplishment. It may be to lead an army, or sweep a crossing, to keep a hotel, or drive a hack, to address senates, or prescribe medicine. Whatever it is, do it with all your might. Act well your part—there all the honor lies.
