

Willie Ready, our sketch artist and engraver, has a few samples of his work in this issue of which we are very proud.

Quite a number of employees and pupils have attended sessions of the Legislature in Salem during the past week or two.

February 6 was Mrs. Brewer's birthday anniversary and in honor of the occasion Miss Gertrude Brewer had a few guests to dinner in the evening.

On Monday evening the engineer boys had a party in the gym, to which many of their girl friends and few employes were invited. Dancing and refreshments were the order of the evening and all had a splendid time, according to reports.

Since our last issue Prof. Chas. A. Rice of Portland addressed our chapel congregation on "Choosing a Career," Rev. Phillip Bauer of Salem on "Having a Real Good Time," and Dr. Joseph Schafer of Eugene on the subject of "Early Indian Missions." All of these discourses were of the highest order and we appreciated having these gentlemen address us.

Since our last issue we have had something like eight or ten inches of snow at Chemawa. The weather was not very cold and the snow did not last long. However, it lasted long enough for a few good snowballing matches among the pupils and for some of our Alaskan pupils to make some miniature Eskimo snow houses. These little houses were of more than ordinary interest and were as unique to this part of the world as they appeared cute.

Mr. Mann, who is in charge of our blacksmithing department, recently received a letter from Jefferson Wilson, formerly an apprentice in the Chemawa shop. Mr. Willson is now employed in the service as blacksmith at Mojave, Arizona. In his letter to Mr. Mann, he says: "I am doing well. I like this place fine, but I feel that I would not have such a good place today if it had not been for what the Chemawa school did for me. I cannot speak too highly of what that school did for me while I was a pupil there. I would be glad to see Old Chemawa once again."

Quite a large number of our people were in Portland during the fore part of the month attending the performance of Ben Hur or seeing Sarah Bernhardt in vaudeville. Among those going to Portland for these events were: Supt. Wadsworth and son, Mrs. Brewer and family, Mr. and Mrs. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Brace, Mrs. Woods, Miss Peters, Miss Lecrone, Mrs. Stevenson, Mrs. Lovelace, Miss White, Miss Skipton, Mr. and Mrs. Clardy, Miss Royer, Mrs. Royer, Mr. Mitchell, Mr. Thomas, Patrick Varrney, Pat Hall. There may have been others whose names we could not get.
