

The judges of the Nonpareil-Excelsior debate were Prof. Kilpatrick, principal of the Salem high school; Prof. Smith, superintendent of the schools of Marion county, and Prof. Dillard, of the high school. We appreciate the interest taken by these gentlemen in our school and the various undertakings thereof.

Mr. Joseph Teabo came out not long ago from his home in Grande Ronde to visit his Chemawa friends. He is getting along nicely with his work on the farm. Mrs. Teabo is at present keeping house here for Mr. and Mrs. Smith, and since our last issue she availed herself of an opportunity to visit her home in Grande Ronde for a day or two.

Miss Antoinette White's birthday occurs on March 25th and on her last anniversary numerous friends surprised her by availing themselves of the darkness to pounce upon her unaware. Delicious refreshments, conversations, etc., passed the evening away all too briefly. Goodnights and good wishes marked the close of this delightful occasion.

Not long ago Miss Eleanor Lynch, known to her Chemawa chums as "Teddy," wrote us a letter which assured us of her good health and happiness at her home in Wrangell, Alaska. She informed us that Mrs. Dollie Clark is again at her home in Wrangell—she will be remembered as Miss Dollie Case, one of our graduates. Good luck to all of our friends in the North!

On the evening before Easter moving pictures portraying the life of Christ were shown at the school. This was a splendid and instructive series of greatest value to our students, many of whom we know to have been intensely interested. Supt. Wadsworth is to be especially congratulated upon his efforts and success in securing pictures combining the qualities of greatest educational value and interest.

March 17th was the band's birthday anniversary—the organization is nineteen years old. On this date it has been customary for the band boys to give a party, and this year was no exception, save that the party was held, for reasons of convenience, on March 22nd instead of the 17th. In every way the party was a success, Mr. Loos and the boys all proving to have good "lips" and otherwise demonstrating their geniality as hosts. Dancing in the big gymnasium was a feature of the evening and the large crowd of invited guests made merry with a will until the hour for refreshments, which proved deliciously tempting. All in all, the party was a memorable one and will not soon be forgotten. Our band organization is a feature of the school of which all are justly proud.
