

OUR BAND

The members of the entertainment committee of the Moose carnival got in the lock-step last night by arranging for the service of the Chemawa band, and making definite preparations to secure other musical organizations to appear on the street each day during the week. The ever-faithful and much-appreciated Indian band arrived in Salem this morning at 8:30, true to schedule, and discoursed catchy music on the streets all day, and the Moose committee have been assured that other bands will be in the city during the remainder of the week.

The Chemawa band should receive the unstinted thanks of not only the Moose lodge, but every individual in Salem, for its willingness to assist in making the carnival a success, as it has done so generously and well on many other occasions. Professor I. S. Loos, the director of the Indian band, was called up over the phone last night and he cheerfully informed the Moose committee that he would bring his band to Salem and furnish music today, in spite of the fact that the band will leave tomorrow morning for Roseburg to fill an engagement. Upon every occasion the Chemawa band has responded to calls for service from Salem people, and the organization has well earned its position as one of the finest, most progressive and finished in the state. The Indian band has made long strides toward perfection in the past few months under the able direction of Professor Loos, and its ability to furnish good, wholesome music is equal to any band that ever appeared in Salem. The Capital Journal wishes to thank the Chemawa boys for favoring the office with some real music.—Salem Capital Journal.

This will be the last American issued during this School year. Next fall, with the beginning of school, issue will commence again.
