

in social and other ways, which are free absolutely, and it is not at all necessary to possess a bank account in order to attend our school. The only expense is what the students wish to make for themselves, and is necessary for some of their parties among themselves, or for athletics, or something of their own creation.

Where do they get money? From exactly the same source that all reputable people do—by honest labor. In the fall our students do a mighty fine business in the hop-yards. Our boys and girls are in the fields by the hundreds. This brings them money for the little things which they desire. Many of our boys go to Alaska and fish during the season, and make good wages, too. A few fish on the Columbia river. Others work at various things; some get situations where they can follow the trades which they may be learning at the school. All of this money-making business on the part of our students is carried on during the vacation time.

It is a matter of pride for us to know that our boys and girls make good—they can go back again. Some of our nearby hop growers have for years had their picking done by our boys and girls and are likely to give them work in season so long as they are in the business, for they are more than satisfied with the work done for them.

We are a part of the great commonwealth of America and are each year becoming more and more known for the prominence of our position. Chemawa is growing and improving in every way. There are many, many things which are good scheduled for our future. Much has been achieved by Supt. Wadsworth and he is still working for the advancement of our school. The meritorious activities of our students make his work, as well as that of all of us, a pleasure. We do not wish to appear boastful, but we are mighty glad to be what we are.

ANOTHER BEGINNING

Once again school is in session at Chemawa. We have now several weeks to our credit and are in a position to state school conditions authoratively. On the opening of school the enrollment was large and has continued to increase until at the present time we are nearing capacity limit. Surely Supt. Wadsworth has reason for a feeling of pride in the success he has won at this school.

To go into details fully would be too lengthy for our purpose at this time, but let it suffice to mention the fact that there are but two changes in the staff of Miss Gaither, principal, in the academic department. This is well for all concerned. In other divisions of the school, the
