Christmas is coming. We are all glad. We are going to work hard in the school room, and also prepare for the Christmas entertainment.

Annie Jackson is now working as hospital cook.

The girls in the large sewing-room are finishing the school dresses for the small girls.

We were all glad to see Ross Martin back to school after his vacation at Browning, Montana.

Mr. Woods and his force of boys are busy repairing the Mitchell Hall wash room.

My father, Anton Johansen, is coming to see me soon, and I will be pleased to see him, and I know he will be glad to see me. It will take him a week and a half to come here.

The people had a very good time Thanksgiving night, dancing and eating ice cream. We all thanked the orchestra for the excellent music they furnished us.

I have been working in the tailor shop since I came here. That is over a month ago. The tailors are busy making uniform trousers for the new boys.

I am now working in the sewing room. Sewing is one of the best things a girl could learn.

Marina Siftsoff, our dining hall sergeant, had the pleasure of spending her Thanksgiving up at Salem. She had a very enjoyable time while there.

ACADEMIC LOCAL

Dr. H. L. Hale gave the student body an illustrated lecture on the care of the teeth and their relation to health. The lecture was interesting and very instructive. Dr. Hale has about completed a much-needed work at the school, having examined and treated or filled the teeth of every student of this institution. On completing his work the Dr. and Mrs. Hale will leave for some other school.

Rev. Mr. Gill, rector of the St. Paul's Episcopal Church in Salem, visits the school every other Sunday afternoon and holds services. The school is fortunate in having such a man as Mr. Gill interested in the welfare of the institution.

Mr. William R. Davis, Superintendent of the Bismarck Indian School, at Bismarck, North Dakota, paid the school a visit a short time ago. Mr. Davis visited the various shops and schoolrooms of the institution while here.
