

He was enrolled at Chemawa about five years ago and worked in the harness-shop.

We believe that no finer lecture has ever been delivered in the Auditorium than that recently given by Rev. R. H. Kennedy on "The Transformation of Jean Valjean" from "Les Miserables" by Victor Hugo. Everyone was highly pleased.

We acknowledge the receipt of a program of the chapel exercises at the Tulalip (Wash.) school on February 8th. As usual the program is of more than ordinary interest and reflects credit upon Dr. Buchanan, who is superintendent of the school.

An item which we are especially pleased to publish, and which we overlooked in our last issue, is the fact that our printers' team were the victors over all other departmental teams of the school in a series of basketball games pulled off during the holidays.

On January 27th a little snow fell at Chemawa. To our students it was only an aggravation as there was not enough on whole campus to make a decent-sized snowball. Up to the time of this writing this was the only snow that we have had this winter.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Horn were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. and Mrs. E. A. Smith the first of the month. Time passed only too soon in pleasant reminiscences of golden school days. Mr. Horn and Mr. Smith were school chums at Carlisle, from whence they were separated fourteen years ago when Mr. Horn graduated and Mr. Smith the following year. Mr. and Mrs. Horn were well impressed with the school and its work. Their home is at present in Portland, Oregon.

On Monday evening January 19, 1914, the Chemawa Alumni Association held a short, but interesting, business meeting at the home of Mr. Lovelace. The constitution and by-laws for the association was read and discussed upon. After a few minor changes were made President Lovelace put it before the house for its adaption. Every one present voted for it. After the business meeting refreshments were served by Mrs. Lovelace and Miss Brewer, who acted as hostesses.

Cato Sells, Commissioner of Indian Affairs, has just demonstrated in a practicable manner his determination to put a stop to the wanton waste of natural gas from Indian lands, by imposing a penalty of $1,000 on the Silurian Oil Company, which company holds a lease on the allotment of Walter Star, a Creek Indian in Creek County, Oklahoma, for failure to observe the regulations of the Department. At the same time he indicated that a much heavier punishment may be expected by the next lessee found guilty of the same practice.

On the afternoon of Lincoln's Birthday everyone at the school was
