

Little Florence Van Tassel is now the proud possessor of a piano. She says it is not for sale.

Not long ago Mr. Pugh and his assistants laid a new board walk from the school campus to the Oregon Electric depot. This was an improvement much needed.

We are pleased to note that Supt. Chalcraft has accepted a transfer from Oklahoma to Oregon and is now in charge at Siletz. This will be good news for his friends in this section.

On the evening of June 10th, Mr. G. A. Anderson, one of our neighbors, gave a reception to the band boys. This was a courtesy which every member of the band appreciated to the fullest.

We are running quite a number of programs which were rendered here during our commencement. We are warranted in the statement that every feature of our commencement was most creditable to all—teachers and pupils.

Inmates of the "Mess" building enjoyed (genuinely, too) a couple of "strawberry shortcake" evenings during the season. Misses Dohse and Randolph did the honors and certainly are entitled to the thanks of all—and they received them, too.

Mr. and Mrs. Henderson made the graduating class very happy just before commencement by holding a reception in their honor. Every feature was joyous and certainly was appreciated by all, who voiced the highest praise for host and hostess.

Mr. C. E. Frye, formerly an employee at Chemawa, paid us a visit not long ago. For some time he has been employed in government work on the Celilo canal, on the upper Columbia river. He was looking well and said everything was "O. K." with him.

Chemawa has the largest canning club in the world composed wholly of Indian girls, and our guess is that they are the most enthusiastic lot of girls in the world, too. Our canning club is an assured feature of the school. We regret that we have not time and space to go into particulars about the club, as it deserves the same, but we haven't.

Thursday evening, June 25th, proved memorable to the graduating class of 1914, for on this date they were tendered a reception at "The Cottage" by Supt. and Mrs. Wadsworth. An evening of good fellowship and good cheer generally was passed all too quickly with conversation, music, games, viewing pictures and books and discussing the same, and being introduced to many priceless curios, etc. At the proper time delicious refreshments were served. The occasion will long remain green in the memory of those present, who voted Supt. and Mrs. Wadsworth perfect as host and hostess.
