

Mrs. Fulkerson was called to Indiana, her old home, by a telegram recently received announcing the serious illness of her father. She left on December 12th.

Dr. Buchanan has again sent us a program of his Sunday evening exercises at Tulalip. Like all of his programs, it was well-balanced and interesting. We are always pleased to receive these programs.

On Sunday evening, December 13th, Mr. R. H. Kennedy gave a noteworthy lecture on the "Idylls of the King" by Tennyson. Like all of Mr. Kennedy's literary efforts, it was exceptionally fine. We always look forward to these treats.

Willie Reddie, our local violinist, now has a violin class at Gervais, Oregon. He goes down there every Saturday and teaches until time for the evening train home. Willie will some day be known far and wide, is our prediction.

"The Chemawa American." You are steadily improving. Your October issue shows marked improvement. Your departments are very good and all of them deal with with good solid subjects, which shows that you have bright thinkers in your midst. Do not forget to come again.—The Owl, Fresno, California.

On the evening of December 12th Mrs. Beewick, of Portland, gave elocutionary readings at Chemawa. She was greeted by a good-sized and enthusiastic audience. Assistance was given by the band under direction of Mr. Loos, by Miss Louise Deschamp in vocal numbers, and Willie Reddie, violinist. Many very complimentary remarks have reached us regarding the high character of the work of Mrs. Beewick and those who kindly assisted in making the occasion enjoyable.

Recently there arrived at Chemawa, from Gonzales, Texas, Mr. Wm. E. Taylor, who now holds the dual position of assistant superintendent and principal teacher. Mr. Taylor is a man of vast experience in educational work, having been connected with a number of our best educational institutions during many years. Before coming to Chemawa Mr. Taylor had occupied the position of Superintendent of City Schools at Gonzales, Texas. Mr. Taylor will have strong support in his work at Chemawa.

Supervisor H. B. Peairs left Chemawa on the evening of December 12th for the school at Carson, Nevada. Mr. Peairs had been with us for almost a week and during that time he made a most thorough inspection of every department of the school. Just before departure he made an address to the entire body of employes assembled in the Auditorium. He gave many valuable suggestions along lines connected with work in the service and gave them in a most pleasing manner. Mr. Peairs has many strong supporters in Chemawa.
