

of people rests so great a responsibility as on the Indian young men and young women of today. You have the opportunities of education. If you fail to make use of these opportunities, the next generation will not have them.

You must look beyond the mere duties and details of today. You must not come here simply to get a good education. Come because you have the vision to accomplish something for your people.

Y. W. C. A. NOTES

Our association consists of thirty girls. Out of this twenty girls have paid their fees, which are fifty cents a year; the total being ten dollars. The membership committee is very busy and we are getting new members at every meeting.—Leona John, Reporter.

A new set of Conn band instruments have arrived for use at the school. This has made it possible to hatch out a brood of amateur "tooters," who are very busy now under the direction of Bandmaster Loos, who is some tutor himself.
